Work in the Dives

Q. I'm a first-class diver in the Navy and I will be discharged in seven months. I want to stay in deep-sea diving when I get out but am new to California and I don't know who to contact for future work. Can you help me? A.J.K., Long Beach.

A. You can send your introductory letter, resume and photo to both International Divers Inc., P.O. Box 3462, and Ocean Systems Inc., No. 17 Marine Center, P.O. Box 1331, both Santa Barbara, Calif. Both companies employ deep-sea divers principally for offshore oil drilling and construction. Divers earn a union wage of $11.06 an hour or $88.50 a day. Within the next few weeks, additional work may open up due to new federal offshore lands being released for oil drilling.

Sutter's Fortune

Q. Since I was a little girl, I have heard that my grandmother, Margaret Brower, born in the 1840s at Sacramento, Calif., was the first white child born there. Can you tell me how to find out? R.J., Bullflower.

A. ACTION LINE checked with Robert Klassen, assistant supervisor, California section of the State Library in Sacramento. He explains that, according to state files, pioneer reports and newspaper stories of that time, there are at least 10 people who lay claim to the title of first born in Sacramento. Your grandmother's name was not on the list. "The most often cited person is Ellen Buzzell, born Aug. 2, 1845," Klassen adds. However, the name Brower does appear on pioneer records. H. H. Bancroft in his "California Pioneer Registry 1542-1848" listed a George Brower who traveled from New York to Monterey in 1845. In the 1840s, Sacramento was called New Helvetia. It was a settlement begun by the Swiss immigrant, Capt. John A. Sutter who had received a Mexican land grant. In 1848, James W. Marshall, one of Sutter's employees, discovered gold at Coloma. In the great migration which followed, Sutter was financially ruined. His property was overrun by gold seekers and the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the title to 98,000 acres of his land was invalid. He used up most of his remaining financial resources reimbursing persons to whom he had granted titles, and he finally went bankrupt. Soon thereafter, Sutter's son laid out a new town by the Sacramento and American Rivers and called it Sacramento. The city became the state capital in 1854.

Theodore Bear

Q. Is there any way you can get musical teddy bears repaired? I am speaking of the type that wind up and play lullabies. J.L., Seal Beach.

A. Bear up. C. R. Crookshank, owner of California Clockmakers Guild, 7975 1/2 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, says he can repair the musical unit of the teddy bear's tummy will have to be done by you. "The unit can be packed and mailed to me. If I can't repair it, I can sell the customer a new one for $4.50. I have a complete stock of lullabies," he says. Born into the clock making craft, Crookshank also repairs old clocks, barometers, mechanical toys and old automations. For information, call 653-1081.

Fire Engine White?

Q. At a recent local fire I noticed a white truck arrive and set up spotlights. Upon relating this to a friend, I was told I'm color blind and that all Long Beach fire equipment is red. Am I color blind? G.J., Long Beach.

A. No. You did see a white truck with a blue top at the fire. It is a rescue unit on loan to the Long Beach Fire Department from the California State Disaster Office in Los Angeles, says Fire Chief Leonard V. Foster. It is used to set up lights, and it carries chain saws, pry tools, a generator, jacks and a winch to lift heavy objects and to pull down weakened walls after a fire. It is used only on special calls at major fires and is kept at the Main Station. The Long Beach Fire Department also has a foam fire rig stationed at the Long Beach Airport for emergencies there. It is a brilliant yellow.

Really Ultra

Q. Where can I get TV program listings for UHF channels? H.S., Wilmington.

A. TV Guide Magazine, published by Triangle Publications of Los Angeles, publishes UHF listings for Channels 22, 28, 34 and 40. The magazine appears on local newsstands weekly at 15 cents a copy. The Independent Press-Telegram's Tele Vues section publishes listing each Sunday for Channels 22 and 28.

REACTION

An item in your column published Dec. 18 contained some incorrect statements about the Musicwriter, a typewriter for music. The Musicwriter, invented by Cecil Effinger and produced by the Music Print Corp. of Boulder, Colo., has no connection, as you indicated, with a music typewriter developed by Lili Pavey. The two machines take entirely different approaches to the problem of printing music. The Effinger Machine has been on the market for 12 years and, it is believed, the Pavey machine is not yet in production. Also, it is not necessary, as you stated, to backspace on the Effinger machine to reproduce chords. M.L.R., Boulder, Colo.

RAPID TRANSIT RIPPED

L.A. Chamber Rocks 'Road to L.B.'

From Our L.A. Bureau

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Friday ripped into a high-priority proposal for a rapid transit corridor to Long Beach, and called for a major overhaul in rapid transit plans.

It was the third recent downtown Los Angeles attack on some phase of the Southern California Rapid Transit District's projected Long Beach line.

The district has proposed corridors to Long Beach, El Monte and San Fernando Valley in its initial $1.5 billion priority construction program.

Paul E. Iverson, chamber board chairman and immediate past president, led the assault on the Long Beach transit terminal by pointing to transit-district studies.

In remarks to a press conference, Iverson said, "You'll notice the southern corridor goes to Long Beach where there's practically no population density until you get there.

"The traffic drops off after you get to Compton."

He cited a chamber report that stated, "It would appear that the present and projected need and patronage would be greater in corridors extending from the central Los Angeles area to the Orange County line, and to Los Angeles International Airport, and from the San Fernando Valley to the Los Angeles Airport industrial complex, than the proposed corridor extending to Long Beach."

Last month, Los Angeles City Planning Commission urged that the "Long Beach Corridor" be moved to the west so it could serve the Central Avenue area. Though the commission's study dealt only with the Los Angeles portion of the corridor, it was obvious that a westerly shift of the inland half of the corridor would affect the coastal leg.

If a southerly corridor followed a Central Avenue route, the most direct north-south coastal terminal would be Wilmington rather than Long Beach.

The Los Angeles-dominated Citizens Advisory Council on Public Transportation also took on the Long Beach terminal in a 156-page report last summer.

"The anticipated patronage per mile of the Long Beach corridor does not appear sufficient to justify its total length. Perhaps only a portion of this line should be developed until greater patronage can be anticipated," said the Council.

Friday's Los Angeles Chamber report, touching only briefly on the Long Beach corridor, also recommended:

—The district provide more data on its proposed

Cabbie Killed by Bandit

L.A. Police Say Gunman Shot, then Robbed

A Cudahy cab driver was shot, killed and robbed as he walked to a south-central Los Angeles home to pick up a fare Friday night — the first stickup-slaying victim of the year.

Police fanned out over the neighborhood at 1103 W. 49th St. in search of his unseen killer.

Los Angeles detectives said 45-year-old Robert Eiseke was found dead on the sidewalk near his cab by a neighbor who heard a gunshot and summoned police.

University Division detectives said Eiseke was dispatched to the address about 8:30 p.m.

When he arrived, he got out of his cab and started up the sidewalk but was felled by a bullet in the forehead, detectives said.

Numerous bus and cab drivers have been victims of robberies and slayings during recent months in the south Los Angeles area streets.

Bus drivers in November threatened to go on strike because of personal danger, but changed their minds after police protection was stepped up.

Hundreds Die in Flu Epidemic

ATLANTA (UPI) — Flu outbreaks reached epidemic proportions in the Middle Atlantic region this week and neared the epidemic level across the nation, the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) reported Friday.

The New York City area has been the hardest hit, NCDC said.

A total of 192 deaths were reported within the Middle Atlantic region to the NCDC during the week ending Dec. 30, but the agency pointed out that only 20 cities in the region reported to NCDC, and undoubtedly there were hundreds of other deaths.

The agency has divided the nation into nine regions for reporting purposes and gets statistics from 122 cities.

REPORTS FROM these cities showed that 613 persons died of pneumonia or (Continued Page A-3, Col. 1)

South Sierra Snowpack Level Below Normal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The snowpack in the central Sierra is about normal and only slightly below last year's mark, the state Water Resources Department reported Friday.

It said the snowpack in the southern Sierra is below normal but a single major storm would change that.

'BOO!' SAYS VICTIM

Compton Ghost Captured

By GEORGE LAINE

A "ghost" is in Compton City Jail today and the people who unwittingly entertained him for more than six months say they'll be able to relax for a change.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonny Clark thought they heard noises in the attic back in mid-July of 1967.

"It's only mice," said Clark, laughing. Then he added, lightly, "Unless it's a ghost."

By November, Clark was pretty certain it wasn't a ghost or a mouse. First his $300 watch disappeared. Then his $85 transistor radio was lost.

And when his $250 camera couldn't be found, he was pretty sure someone with fairly human tastes was involved. Also missing were foodstuffs, including an incredible 21 cans of tuna, swiped in one swoop.

It was Mrs. Clark who brought things to a head. On Dec. 28, she discovered someone had pilfered her change dish in a cupboard. Recalling her husband's losses, she called Compton police.

As Mrs. Clark was detailing the story to the officer — including the part about her husband's "mice and ghosts" — there came a sound from the attic, as if a shoe had been dropped.

"That's no ghost," exclaimed the officer, heading for his car radio to summon help.

A search of the attic produced a veritable rooming house of miscellany. Books, magazines, cigarette butts, scraps of paper, magazines were everywhere. Against the wall, lined up neatly, were hundreds of empty food cans. But no ghosts.

After cleaning out his attic and boarding up the access route from the garage, Clark felt better. But he couldn't get it out of his head that the eerie guest had shared his home with him for six months.

On Friday, Clark spotted a man who fitted the description of a stranger who had been seen often in his neighborhood. The man was entering Compton's Lueders Park. Clark parked his car and strolled up to the man.

"It was the craziest thing," Clark recalled the meeting. "I just asked him if he had been living in my attic and he said right off that he had."

"He said he sold my watch to a sailor for $5, and sold my radio to another sailor for $5."

Clark was upset by it all, but he had another, more gnawing question for the man.

"Why didn't you just come and ask me for a place to stay or food to eat?" he asked the slight, 5-footer.

"I'm not really a bad sort."

Detective C. R. Smith probably never made an

4 Others Also Face U.S. Trials

New York Times Service

NEW YORK — Dr. Benjamin Spock said here Friday night, "I hope that 100,000, 200,000 or even 500,000 young Americans either refuse to be drafted or to obey orders if in military service."

That was the defiant reaction of the tall, 64-year-old author and pediatrician to news of his indictment on a federal charge of counseling young men to violate draft laws.

Calm and in good spirits during a news conference at his small, unpretentious apartment, he cited the "Nuremberg Laws" as justification for his anti-draft activities.

In answer to questions, he said, "I certainly don't feel myself guilty." He referred to a "higher law" brought out at the time of the Nuremberg post-war trials of Nazi leaders. That law, he said, made it morally necessary to disobey when "your government is up to crimes against humanity."

Spock and Rev. William S. Coffin Jr., chaplain of Yale University were among five men indicted Friday on charges of conspiring to counsel young men to violate the draft laws.

THE OTHER MEN indicted are Michael Ferber, a 23-year-old Harvard University graduate student; Mitchell Goodman, 44, of New York City, an author, and Marcus Raskin, 33, of Washington, D.C., co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies, a private research organization.

Attorney General Ramsey Clark announced the indictments, which were handed down Friday afternoon by a federal grand jury in Boston.

If convicted, the men could be sentenced to maxi-

N. Viets Down Two American Jets

Combined News Services

SAIGON — Communist North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners shot down two U.S. jets Friday as American warplanes bombed a key rail junction within 10 miles of the Communist Chinese border. American bombers struck the rail junction and a bridge on the second consecutive day of raids near Communist China. The Communists also shot down three American helicopters during a battle around a landing zone about 65 miles northwest of Saigon and about five miles from the Cambodian border.

Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs destroyed the Lang Son railroad bridge, a vital link on Hanoi's northeastern rail connections with Communist China. The pilots of both F105s shot down were listed as missing. The losses were the 780th and 781st U.S. planes shot down over North Vietnam since the attacks began. Planes also bombed the Kep airfield 38 miles northeast of Hanoi and a railroad siding 20 miles from the capital.

In the ground war at least 31 Communists were killed in fighting near the Cambodian border. U.S. casualties were put at 10 killed and 14 wounded. The American troops routed the Communists in what officials described as "heavy fighting." The Communists regrouped and staged a brief mortar attack a short time later, wounding another 11 U.S. soldiers.

REGRETS TO RUSS

WASHINGTON — The U.S. expressed its regrets to the Soviet Union Friday for damage suffered by a Soviet freighter in Haiphong harbor during an American air raid but said that if U.S. planes were responsible, it was an accident. Both the State Department and Pentagon issued statements which indirectly acknowledged that American planes might have "inadvertently" damaged the Soviet merchant vessel Pfrslav-Zaleskiy during air raids.

Unilateral Talks Opposed

SAIGON, Saturday — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu indicated today he would object to any unilateral talks between the U.S. and North Vietnam. Thieu said South Vietnam should be included in any talks. "I believe negotiations should be the main task of the Saigon government and the Hanoi government," Thieu said. The South Vietnamese president added, however, he would welcome "any movement or any informal talks from any government to bring peace to Vietnam."

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey offered Zambia a major aid program Friday and called for rejection of "racial or political injustice" in its white-ruled southern Africa neighbors.

New Communist Leader Emerges

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — Soviet-educated Alexander Dubcek won the leadership of Czechoslovakia's Communist party Friday in a dramatic power struggle that toppled Antonin Novotny from the post he had held since 1953. The power struggle had been under way for months and was serious enough for Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev to make a hurried trip to Prague shortly before Christmas.

Most of Nation Still in Freezer

Combined News Services

Intense cold and wind-driven snows spread suffering across the nation Friday from the Continental Divide to New England. A fresh outbreak of arctic air spread across the northern plains, threatening to send the mercury down to 40 below zero today. It was reinforcing a winter blast that carried temperatures down to 34 below zero in the upper Midwest Tuesday. In the frozen midlands, Chicago and Indianapolis reported record consumption of natural gas as residents tried to keep warm. Chicago's Cook County Hospital reported it had admitted 24 persons suffering from frostbite since the cold spell began. At least 25 schools closed in New York after strong winds whipped up hobbling drifts in snowbelt areas along the shores of lakes Erie and Ontario. Blowing, drifting snow cut visibility sharply on central sections of the New York thruway. By midday there was 6 inches of new snow in Wyoming County and 4 to 6 inches in Onondaga and Oswego counties in New York. Snow-slicked roads throughout the northern Rockies and scattered snow was reported from the Dakotas to the Upper Great Lakes region. Cold wave warnings were issued for Montana, northeast Colorado, eastern Wyoming and western Nebraska.

Detroit Gets Riot Warning

DETROIT — A Negro leader in Detroit said Friday the Negro federation heads was rejecting a $100,000 grant from the Ford Foundation and warned the city could be ripped by another destructive riot this summer. Rev. Albert Cleage Jr., who heads a group established to help rebuild Detroit's Negro community ravaged by a riot last summer, said he was severing all relations with the blue-ribbon group appointed by Gov. George Romney and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh to coordinate the city's rehabilitation. An avowed Black Power advocate, Cleage said that there will be another riot in Detroit next summer if the white community fails to recognize the need for self-determination on the part of the Negro community.

Flood Sweeps Away Home

HONOLULU — A flash flood, caused by heavy rains, ripped through the suburban area of Pearl City Friday, sweeping away one home and damaging 30 others. No one was reported killed or injured in the floods, but one family was awakened when waters lifted their home off its foundations and turned it around, ripping away a wall. It was the second flood on Oahu in three weeks.

Bar Owners 'Liable' for Drunks

BOSTON — The Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled Friday that barroom owners can be held legally responsible for highway deaths and injuries caused by drunken drivers. The suit was in connection with an automobile accident in which a man's wife was killed by a drunken driver Jan. 26, 1966 shortly after the driver left a bar and restaurant. The court said the bar "solicited the patronage of the motoring public," maintained a large parking lot and the owner knew that the patrons arrived and left by automobile.

Youths Schooled in Shoplifting

DOWAGIAC, Mich. — An organized gang of juvenile shoplifters who took a scientific approach to stealing items valued into thousands of dollars has been uncovered. Ten juveniles from junior high school already have been implicated and the figure may run as high as 50 before the investigation is completed. The police chief said he uncovered copies of instruction sheets run off on duplicating machines which showed the layout of stores in the downtown district. The sheets included diagrams showing where various items were located in relationship to exit doors of the stores.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Charge Prof Sold Human Heads

Combined News Services

Officials at Stanford medical school and the University of California at Davis Friday denied that Dr. Antonio Zappala, now employed at both schools, had been engaged in the sale of human heads or parts of the head.

A judge in northeast Brazil has ordered Zappala's arrest for allegedly selling 190 human heads to American universities and hospitals. Police Col. Haroldo Torres said Friday in Rio de Janeiro that he would seek Zappala's extradition. "In accord with normal practice among anatomists, Dr. Zappala had imported several small portions of skulls for his research," said a joint statement of the two universities.

"The exchange of this kind of material is quite common among professional anatomists," the statement said.

But Torres said: "We charge Zappala exported for commercial ends the heads of indigents who died in the Pernambuco University Hospital. I am writing to American authorities to ask for Zappala's extradition."

MONEY FEUD

The estranged husband of insurance company heiress Donna J. Kneifel Friday failed in Los Angeles Superior Court to block his wife from disposing of $26 million of property.

However, a similar motion brought by Mrs. Kneifel, 32, to prevent Earle L. Kneifel, 34, from disposing of $500,000 worth of property was granted by Judge Robert S. Thompson.

Mrs. Kneifel is claiming clear title to a $32,000 yacht, a $200,000 home in Bel Air and interest in an engineering firm in North Hollywood.

BOW'S OUT

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York canceled a scheduled taping of KNXT-TV's "Newsmakers" show in Hollywood Friday. He gave no reason for bowing out.

CLAVICHORD

A clavichord which once belonged to Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart has been rediscovered in Hungary after it had been considered lost for nearly 100 years.

The clavichord was built by Johann Andreas Stein in Augsburg in 1763, and used by Mozart when he toured European capitals as a child prodigy.

WHO KNOWS

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Friday he might not seek re-election in 1972, but "I'm certainly not making an announcement that I won't run."

"Who knows what I'll do four years from now," he said. "I don't know myself."

McClellan, who will be 72 next month, had been quoted as saying Wednesday on his 25th anniversary in the Senate that "it's not likely" that he would run again although "I wouldn't want to shut the door."

POP TOPS

Pop music promoter Brian Epstein, manager of the Beatles for four years, left half a million dollars more when he died than the late Lord Attlee, Britain's prime minister for six years.

Figures on the estates of both men were disclosed Friday.

Before deductions, Epstein had a gross estate of $1,166,400 and Attlee $17,508.

STILL LIFE

The Massachusetts Supreme Court Thursday upheld the conviction and life sentence of self-proclaimed "Boston Strangler" Albert H. Desalvo on 10 indictments not related to the 13 murders.

Desalvo, 36, was convicted in Cambridge a year ago of sex, assault and burglary charges in connection with attacks on four Greater Boston women between May and October 1964.

INTERESTING

Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt said Friday that industrialist Howard Hughes told him he wanted to work closely with the Laxalt administration in the future.

The governor said he talked to Hughes on the telephone Wednesday and described the conversation as "one of the most interesting" in his life.

The billionaire's conversation with Laxalt marked his first known conversation with a Nevada politician since his arrival in the state.

"Hughes told me he was satisfied with Nevada and that he would like to work closely with the administration in the future," said Laxalt. "Personal communication between the governor and Hughes will be maintained hereafter."

DIAL-A-QUOTE

Louie B. Nunn has come up with a new publicity device for a Kentucky governor: It's a recording of what he thinks about certain issues that can be heard by dialing a telephone number.

By means of a tape recording the voice of Nunn the first Republican governor in Kentucky in 20 years, comes in loud and clear.

ONE FOR THREE

Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, will take a year's leave of absence from one job and take on three other jobs.

One of the new jobs will be an "irreverent look" at American politics in a television series.

Salinger, now vice president of Continental Airlines, will spend the year lecturing, working on the television series and working for the U.S. investment fund of which he is a director. The fund sells shares in U.S. real estate to people in other nations.

RED EGGS

San Onofre Nuclear Plant Turned On by Holifield

By BOB GEIVET
With the flick of a switch, the $87-million nuclear power generating plant at San Onofre was activated Friday to begin the manufacture of 450,000 kilowatts of electrical energy daily.
The power output from the domed reactor will be enough for a city of a half-million persons. It will be distributed through transmission lines of the Southern California Edison Co. and the San Diego Gas and Electric Co., which jointly financed the project.
More than 400 guests assembled at the San Onofre plant cheered as Congressman Chet Holifield, vice chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, threw the switch.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, said that the U.S. already has enough atomic supplies for peaceful uses of nuclear energy for 1000 years. It is daily producing more, he said, as it expands the horizons of peaceful use of the atom.

AEC Commissioner James T. Ramey noted, with some evidence of sadness in his voice, that "atoms for peace are not put to diplomatic use."
The San Onofre plant of 90 acres, leased from the Navy's Camp Pendleton for 60 years, is one of the world's biggest atomic power stations; it is designed for ultimate expansion to an output of 2 million kilowatts of power.

It is a pressurized water-reactor plant, using ocean water converted to steam by the nuclear reactor.
The initial loading of the reactor with uranium pellets is expected to last three years.

The first fueling cost $6.5 million — a price waived by the Atomic Energy Commission to inaugurate the plant.
Dr. Seaborg said that the first reactor core contains 72 tons of enriched uranium dioxide valued at $17.6 million. Another $5.6 million was needed to convert the uranium to usable form — the pellets about a half-inch in diameter.

There are 157 fuel assemblies, each containing 180 rods — a total of 28,260 rods — loaded with uranium pellets.
They have the energy output of 18 million barrels of fuel oil or 115 billion cubic feet of natural gas — and produce no smog, Dr. Seaborg said.

Major California Drug Ring Broken

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Federal and state narcotics agents raided houses in the Vacaville, Davis and Sacramento areas Friday, breaking up what authorities called a major illegal dangerous drug operation.

Three persons, all in their 20s, were arrested, and U.S. Atty. Rothwell Mason said there would be "several" more arrests.

Mason said the operation involved "tens of thousands of dollars of chemicals" stored in the Davis and Sacramento homes for use at a laboratory five miles north of Vacaville where the highly dangerous drug methamphetamine was being manufactured.

Methamphetamine is marketed commercially as Methedrine and is known in the drug world as "speed."

Mason said state narcotics agents told him that if they were forced to a decision on whether their children had to get involved with heroin or "speed," they would "much rather have them take heroin."

Methamphetamine causes severe mental and brain damage, he told newsmen. Arrested at the Vacaville house was James B. Muntz.

Picked up at the Sacramento address were James E. King and Dorothy Egloff.

—Legislation to reduce from 60 per cent to 50 per cent the voter margin necessary to authorize general obligation transit bonds.

—A multibased transit financing program.

The chamber favored a statewide vehicle or gasoline sales tax to help finance mass transit systems, though it suggested that the plan only be implemented after a majority of statewide voters endorse it at an election.

It also proposed state tidelands oil revenue (from Long Beach), property taxes, municipal business license taxes and airport user taxes. The airport user taxes should be used only for the airport corridor, suggested the chamber.

John V. Vaughn, chamber vice president and director, said he has "serious misgivings on the way the present transit plan was developed."

He charged it may have been put together based on outdated studies and erroneous information. "Whatever errors existed in old 1958-59 studies may be compounded," Vaughn stated.

Vaughn, who also was chairman of the Citizens Advisory Council report that tried to torpedo the Long Beach terminal, stated:

"Consideration should be given to the actual need in some routes where patronage is extremely low... and others such as Orange County and the airport where it would be extremely high."

Vaughn said the district should present comparative data on the costs of developing double-decked freeways for buses or bus-trains—or extra freeway lanes reserved strictly for buses.

He lashed out at the structure of the district—in which some of the board members are appointed by area. "If we wanted only one backbone leg in Wilshire, we couldn't get approval in other areas," observed Vaughn. He suggested the district should be changed so its board members represent the entire metropolitan area rather than separate corridors.

Orange County should be in the district, he said.

ACLU Sues to Stop Draft

DETROIT (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), accusing Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis Hershey of "playing God," Friday filed suit to stop the draft system for reclassifying young men who protest and demonstrate against the Vietnam war.

The suit seeks to challenge the constitutionality of Hershey's directive ordering local boards to reclassify persons who protest selective service policy in Vietnam.

Mazey said the directive had a "chilling and intimidating" effect on the constitutional rights of potential draftees.

Her-Ex Strike Shuts San Francisco Paper

Fourteen pickets from the American Newspaper Guild expanded the three-week-old strike against the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner Friday by closing down the Hearst chain's San Francisco Examiner.

Workers refused to cross the picket line thrown up at the scattered plants of the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co., which houses the offices of both the Examiner and the Chronicle.

Guild members said their picketing was "informational."

In Los Angeles, the secretary of the County Federation of Labor threatened a nationwide boycott against all enterprises of the huge newspaper and business dynasty founded by the late William Randolph Hearst Jr.

BOTH THE GUILD and the machinists union are on strike at the Herald-Examiner, and seven other unions say they are locked out. The paper has published every day except two Saturdays since the strike.

Sigmund Arywitz, secretary of the county labor federation, said negotiations collapsed Thursday when Hearst representatives "announced the inflexible determination that professional strikebreakers would become permanent employees and have seniority over striking employees."

Arywitz said the federation is calling for a boycott on all Hearst newspapers and magazines by the entire AFL-CIO "as well as other unions."

He said the strike against the Herald-Examiner has become "a national problem for the entire Hearst chain."

Pickets did not appear as scheduled at the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, another Hearst newspaper.

Tools, Radio Stolen

Andrew Barajas of Pico Rivera told Long Beach police Friday that while his car was parked in the Douglas Aircraft parking lot, burglars entered and took tools and a radio valued at $247.

THE PICKETS caught San Francisco newspapermen by surprise. A notice posted Tuesday on the Guild bulletin boards told employees they would have plenty of advance warning.

Publisher Charles Gould of the San Francisco Examiner protested his newspaper was not involved and the unions had no grievances against his publication.

He told the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild that if it didn't respect its contract the Examiner would sue to order workers back and seek damages for the shutdown.

Fred Fletcher, executive secretary for the Guild, said he doubted he could make Guildsmen return to work.

Another union spokesman said Guildsmen would honor the picket lines "as long as they are up."

Wayne Loses Tax Plea on L.B. Building

Form Our L.A. Bureau

A county appeals board has denied an application from actor John Wayne to slash the tax assessment on Wayne's Long Beach property.

Wayne had questioned the $210,000-assessment value placed on his commercial building at 230 E. 4th St. He petitioned to reduce it by $36,000.

"The property is leased for 15 years to the state and does not produce an income sufficient to establish a market value in excess of $700,000," stated the Wayne appeal. His petition termed the county assessment "excessive and unjust."

Medi-Cal Echo: Unruh Says Reagan Governs by Panic

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh Friday charged the Reagan administration "governs by panic" and is going to finish the fiscal year with a $31 million surplus in the state Medical fund.

The speaker reacted strongly to the Republican administration's announcement that it had unexpectedly found enough monies to finance the program of medical aid to the poor.

His statement indicated he would challenge Reagan at every chance during the legislative session beginning Monday — possibly pointing toward a race for the governorship in 1970.

"It is now clear that this administration governs by panic, without waiting for all the facts before it takes action," Unruh said.

opposition to the Medi-Cal program as a whole."

RFK Tours School at Riverside

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Friday he found some facilities "inadequate" at the Sherman Institute, a school for Indians near here.

Kennedy inspected the school and addressed the 800 student body members in his capacity as the chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Indian Education.

Also on hand was Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., ranking minority member of the subcommittee.

Kennedy promised the students they would soon have a new gymnasium-auditorium complex to replace one which was declared unsafe last year because it did not meet building standards for safety against earthquakes.

He said the library was inadequate because it did not have enough volumes on Indian history.

Kennedy was accompanied by Mrs. Pierre Salinger, wife of the former White House press secretary.

He flew from here by helicopter to spend the night at the Salinger home in the Los Angeles area.

Sawtelle Vet Sets Self Afire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 32-year-old veteran's hospital patient is listed in "most critical condition" after police said he poured gasoline over himself Friday on Santa Monica beach and lit a match.

Police said James Meehan received third degree burns over 90 per cent of his body. He was saved from death, authorities said, when lifeguards extinguished the flames by rolling him in the sand.

Police said he told an officer that he didn't want to live. He had been undergoing treatment as an outpatient at Sawtelle Veterans Hospital, authorities said.

Slain GIs' Kin Billed for Burials

Solons to Probe Viet Death Fees, Cemetery Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee will inquire next month into reports that many American families must bear part of the funeral costs for sons killed in action in Vietnam.

Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee said Friday his investigation might lead also to new restrictions on burial in national cemeteries "which are filling up so fast that the problem has become critical."

An Associated Press survey this week showed that frequently the government funeral allowances fall short of the actual cost to the families of servicemen. Some families reported paying as much as $700 over the allowance.

SOME FUNERAL directors interviewed in the 10-state cost sampling said they could keep funeral costs within allowance limits but that the combined costs of both funeral and burial often exceed the allowances.

Some funeral directors said they sometimes take financial losses in an attempt to keep their fees within the allowances.

Tom Johnson, a Junction City, Kan., funeral official said he "wouldn't want to profit on funerals for these servicemen."

A District of Columbia funeral home official said he couldn't possibly stay within the limits unless he gave a serviceman "a pauper's funeral."

"This is one of the first things we intend to look into," Teague said. "For years the responsibility for these allowances has been scattered all over Washington. It's time to do something about it."

THE ALLOWANCES are set by military regulation on the basis of average nationwide costs for essential funeral and burial services, military sources said. They added the allowances are intended to "assist in defraying" funeral and burial costs.

This assistance includes embalming the body, placing it in a flag-draped aluminum coffin and shipping it to any point requested by the family. The allowances are additional.

A family gets $75 if the body is sent directly to a military post or national cemetery for a military funeral and military burial. The allowance is $150 for a civilian funeral and a military burial and $300 if both funeral and burial are civilian.

The influx of war dead has placed a heavy burden on national and military post cemeteries in recent years. Some already are full.

Arlington National Cemetery, has been forced to place restrictions on burials there. Restrictions may have to be placed on all such cemeteries, Teague said, to prevent situations like that existing in Southern California. A funeral home official there said he anticipated having to ship bodies to Oregon or New Mexico because of the lack of available space.

Pentagon Denies Senator's Charge

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon Friday denied a senator's assertion that improper use of government-owned machinery by defense contractors is costing taxpayers billions of dollars over the years. The Pentagon said the handling of this equipment actually is saving tax funds.

And most of the companies named by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., quickly denied any wrongdoing. Proxmire said in a statement the government "is losing hundreds of millions of dollars—over the years, billions of dollars" through contractors' use of Pentagon-supplied equipment in commercial production.

But Thomas H. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics, said "our program has produced significant savings" instead of losing money. He added "The public interest is not served when facts are not kept in proper perspective."

PROXMIRE based his charge on a General Accounting Office investigation which he said showed some contractors use federally purchased equipment, provided for work on defense contracts, "for their own commercial production work without adequately reimbursing the government."

The senator named, over GAO objections, 21 contractors investigated in a sampling which led to the complaint. Proxmire said faulty management by the Pentagon is to blame for the situation.

He said the contractors he named were chosen at random from among some

Fireman Hurt by Melted Tar

LOS ANGELES (CNS) — A city fireman was seriously hurt Friday night during a blaze in south central Los Angeles which damaged one home and threatened two others before being extinguished.

Authorities said William Dick of Engine 14 was rushed to Central Receiving Hospital after melted tar from a rooftop dripped into his eye and onto his face. It was believed the fireman would not lose his eye, however.

mum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fines. Clark's announcement said the men would not be arrested, but would be notified when to appear for arraignment in Federal District Court in Boston when an arraignment date is set.

THE INDICTMENT represents the strongest countermove by the government so far to the anti-draft movement that has sprung up among opponents of the United States Vietnam war policy.

Friday's indictments take on added significance because Spock is one of the best-known figures in the anti-war movement, and has been mentioned as a possible independent candidate for president on a peace platform.

Coffin was a prominent figure in the series of anti-war demonstrations in New York late last October.

On Oct. 20, he turned in a briefcase full of what he said were draft cards to officials at the Justice Department Building in New York. He later accused one of the officials of being "derelict in his duty" for not arresting him. He said he wanted to be arrested in order to precipitate a "moral, legal confrontation" with the government over the draft.

The indictment accused the five men of conspiring to counsel, aid and abet young men to refuse to serve in the armed forces and to perform other duties — such as carrying draft registration cards at all times—that are required by the Selective Service law.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT sources said the men apparently were indicted in Boston because the first overt act of the conspiracy, as charged in the indictment, took place there. This was a rally at a Boston Church on Oct. 16, at which time a number of draft cards were collected to be turned over to the Justice Department. Several other acts of the alleged conspiracy were also said to have taken place in Boston.

Chemical Bomb Rips Apartment, Injures Youth

WEST LOS ANGELES (CNS) — A violent explosion apparently caused by a homemade bomb critically injured a 14-year-old boy Friday night and extensively damaged a West Los Angeles duplex.

Firemen said Byron Gregory was rushed to nearby UCLA Medical Center after the numbing blast, which blew a gaping hole in an upper floor and nearly buckled the walls.

The explosion, which knocked plaster off walls and ceilings and sucked the windows inward out of their casings, apparently was caused by chemicals the Gregory youth was mixing.

DAUGHTER OF HEIRESS Look for Father in Tot's Kidnaping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The kidnaping of a 4-year-old daughter of an heiress from her kindergarten class Friday apparently was the latest episode of a long conflict between her divorced parents, Mrs. Newton Cope and Donald MacMasters.

Police said the man who struggled with the kindergarten teacher of Isabelle MacMasters then fled with the girl answered the description of her father, Donald MacMasters.

Police Inspector Sterling Westerspoon said father and daughter were positively identified at the San Francisco International Airport a short time later, but there the trail vanished.

Newton Cope, Isabelle's stepfather, said her 5-year-old sister, Marguerite, identified the abductor as "Daddy."

Last February MacMasters seized both girls in San Francisco and took them to Merida, Mexico. Their mother recovered them there four weeks later with the aid of private investigators.

A felony child stealing warrant was issued for MacMasters at that time but was never served.

THE CHILDREN'S mother is the former Dolly Fritz, who inherited a San Francisco and Los Angeles real estate fortune from her father. She is prominent in San Francisco social circles and lives in her own hotel atop fashionable Nob Hill.

Police gave this account of the latest abduction of Isabelle:

Mrs. Cope's chauffeur, Michael J. Downey, took the girls at 8:15 a.m. to the Sarah Dix Hamlin private school.

They were no sooner seated in their classroom than a pale, slender man entered, threw Isabelle over his shoulder and strode out.

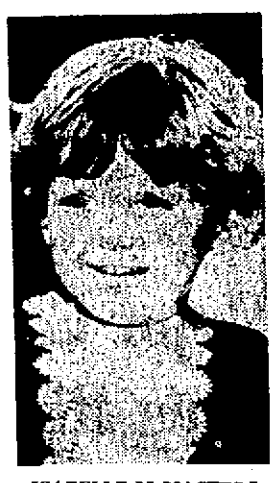

The teacher, Mrs. Virginia MacLean, chased him and struggled with him in the foyer, but he escaped with the child in a car driven by another man.

Mrs. Robert Brown, bringing her children to the school, chased the fleeing car but lost it on the freeway leading south to the airport. Through the license it was identified as a car rented earlier by MacMasters at the airport.

THE STORMY MacMasters affair began with their wedding in Mexico City in January 1962. Dolly's mother disapproved refused to attend.

The young couple moved to Paris, where MacMasters ran an antique shop. Both girls were born there.

The couple separated in

ISABELLE MACMASTERS

April 1965, and engaged in a year-long divorce battle in Paris and Reno. Mrs. MacMasters finally obtained the divorce in Reno.

Last Feb. 19 in San Francisco, MacMasters locked the girls' Swiss nurse in a basement attic took the children.

Traced to Merida, Mexico, on the Yucatan peninsula, he was held briefly by Mexican police but was released after disclosing the girls' whereabouts in nearby Campeche. Their mother flew them back to San Francisco March 17.

Mrs. MacMasters was married nine days later to Newton Cope, Sacramento restaurant owner.

Her grandfather was a plumber. Her father, Eugene Fritz, made millions in real estate.

During World War II he was given a suspended sentence for violating rent controls. At the age of 69 he was sent to federal prison on an 18-month sentence for income tax evasion.

Death Row's Food Strike to Continue

SAN QUENTIN (AP) — Twenty-five condemned men on San Quentin Prison's Death Row said they would continue their hunger strike today, protesting the food and the way it is served.

Others among the 63 condemned killers were not involved in the strike that began Friday.

The strikers are demanding better food, served hotter and by a more neatly dressed convict waiter.

The prison conceded on the last two points. But Associate Warden James W. L. Park said: "In a prison the meals are not as mama used to make."

Orthodox Leader Tells Church Adaption, Ecumenical Role

By LES RODNEY

The Greek Orthodox Church, after 50 years on the American scene, has adapted its forms, taken its place in the country's religious life and is growing, says the leader of the denomination for North and South America.

The Most Rev. Archbishop Iakovos, interviewed

L.B. Pastor Named to New Post

Bishop Gerald Kennedy has announced that Rev. B. J. Usher, since 1966 minister of North Long Beach Methodist Church, has been named assistant administrator of Fredericka Manor, a church-related home for the aged at Chula Vista. A 1959 graduate of the Southern California School of Theology, Rev. Usher served as pastor in Monrovia and Tustin and on the staff of the Conference Board of Missions before his appointment to Long Beach.

Rev. Charles Luther Boss, for over six years minister of Hollywood Methodist Church, Gardena, will succeed him at North Long Beach Methodist. Rev. Boss holds degrees from Ashbury College and Seminary in Kentucky, and Drew University in New Jersey. He has served churches in Tennessee; New York; Karachi, Pakistan; Chino, California; and Holbrook, Arizona.

NEWS OF RELIGION

Thursday in Long Beach City Hall, is here to officiate Sunday at the colorful Byzantine rites commemorating the baptism of Jesus.

It is the 17th consecutive year that the "blessing of the waters" has taken place in Long Beach, but the first time an archbishop has cast the golden cross to be retrieved by young divers from the Rainbow Lagoon.

Asked whether the church's ancient rites became a handicap to growth as new generations grow up much like all other Americans, Archbishop Iakovos, speaking fluent English, told of the adaptations made to U. S. customs by the church, which number some 1,700,000, mostly in the East.

"We have adopted organ music, choirs, pews—none of which are used in Europe," he explained. "Also, the church governing system, and of course, now the language, is American."

"No, we are not concerned about losing anything in such adaptation. This is merely the contemporary framework. The church itself is ageless in its Christian message. That has not changed since the First Century."

Last year's blessing of the waters off the Municipal Auditorium was done from a very contemporary helicopter.

An unchanging message does not mean a static presentation, Archbishop Iakovos added.

"As you know, renewal is a general phenomenon in all major churches today. For us, it means not only the reshaping of traditional rites, but reinterpreting what we have to say in more dynamic language."

THE ORTHODOX Church was an early member of the National and World Councils of Churches, the only non-Protestants in the former. The archbishop has been active with the world grouping.

He sees his church as a sort of bridge to unity, not only because it works closely with Protestants, and has moved with Rome recently to heal Christianity's first schism, but:

"By its very nature, it is the only church which has never ceased to reach for the others who are divided, and continues the tradition of one undivided church of Christ Jesus."

He is encouraged by developments in the ecumenical (from a Greek word, incidentally) movement. "The people are finally becoming aware of the movement." He smiled. "How do you say it in this country, the people in the pews..."

"The free church must never be static. The Christian faith is revolutionary."

He shares the conciliar movement's emphasis on social concerns, or "social action," as it is called, but with one strong caution.

"THE CHURCH is not only to serve people in their religious needs," he said. "It is to remake. St. Paul said whoever believes in Christ is a new creature. I cannot think of the church without social action. It is the very life of our society. We must be concerned with the poor, the illiterate, the young war objectors, the hippies, it is all the church's mission. But I would abhor the church in politics."

As an example, while Archbishop Iakovos declares that as a Christian leader "I am against the Vietnam War," he adds that to suggest specific actions to a government, like stopping the bombing, is politics, and out of bounds.

In this, he differs from most Council leaders.

Nor does he minimize the struggle with communism. "Communism must be confronted. We have learned that lesson. But an intellectual confrontation is better. Certainly we are equipped with the people, the intellect, to win that confrontation."

Sunday's services will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a hierarchical liturgy in the

HERE FOR RITES
Archbishop Iakovos

Auditorium. At 12:30 the archbishop will lead a procession to the lagoon and will cast the cross into the water. The swimmer who succeeds in retrieving it from the cold waters will return it to the prelate, kneel and kiss the cross. He will then receive the cross to keep, and a special blessing from the archbishop.

Among those assisting will be Rev. Nicholas Billiris, pastor of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary Church, Long Beach's Greek Orthodox Church, located at 1643 Pacific Ave.

Looking over the previously unchurched community and discussing successful launching of Del Amo Hills Baptist Mission last Sunday are, from left, Rev. Joe Chaney Jr., pastor of Antioch Baptist Church, Rev. Dan Cheak, pastor of Harbor Baptist Church, and Rev. Ed F. Harness, missionary leader of the Long Beach-Harbor Assn. of the Southern Baptist Convention. The two Long Beach churches are co-sponsoring the new church, which is meeting in the Broadacres School. More than 50 families turned out for the first service. Area served includes recently built housing developments west of Wilmington Avenue, between Del Amo and Artesia boulevards.

Bennett Sees Christian Duality on Viet Obedience

Discussing the question of civil disobedience by conscientious opponents of the Vietnam War, Rev. Dr. John C. Bennett, president of Union Theological Seminary, notes in the magazine Christianity and Crisis that Biblical teaching enjoins obedience to government and also asserts the right to disobey.

"We must obey God rather than men," St. Peter told an ancient court, which sought to silence the apostles, as related in Acts 5:2.

But St. Paul admonishes in Romans 13:1: "Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God."

The two principles, Dr. Bennett says, reflect "an essential duality" in Christian life—the tension between recognizing that God works through orderly government for man's good, and also the duty to resist laws at the point where conscience insists they flaunt that purpose.

"To disobey a particular law and take the consequences, allowing that law to run its course in exacting punishment is not to engage in an act against public order."

EVANGELIST
Prior to entering the field of Christian Evangelism, he was a star of NBC-TV network programs, and was featured on "Shew Hat Matinee" and "Breathless Party." NBC's first early morning telecast. He joined the Billy Graham team for the New York Crusade, and was in charge of the radio and television programs for the entire Crusade. Mel Dibble is unique and timely. He bases his sermons on ordinary problems of life.

CONFIDENT LIVING Life Is Dull Without Struggle

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Funny how most of us have some secret frustrated ambition. Well, all my life I have wanted to be a mountain climber. In Austria, Italy and Switzerland I have often watched men scaling the enormous peaks, and I have talked with some veteran climbers by the hour.

Mountain climbers are a rare breed. In Switzerland they say of the Grindelwald mountain guides that they look old in their youth and young in their old age. Curious but there is really something timeless about climbers and their way of life.

In our country, too, more people than you might think go clambering up mountainsides. For example, most every weekend along the Shawangunk Ridge, a long cliff 50 miles or so from New York City, sweating and straining amateur mountaineers are at work. From there you can graduate to the White Mountains and then go on to the Rockies. There are some few who climb the 3,000 feet of perpendicular rock called the "Nose" of El Capitan in the Yosemite. The western national parks of the United States and Canada are full of mountains. Edward Whymper who made the first ascent of the Matterhorn said of the Rockies and the Selkirk, they are "sixty Switzerlands in one."

AN ENGLISH writer, A. Alvarez, writes about some thrilling experiences. Climbing in the Italian Dolomite he and a companion were stranded overnight on a shallow ledge 1,500 feet up on an overhanging rock wall. A wet cold storm had overtaken them. Their outer clothing soon froze. Without food or extra clothing they realized they must not fall asleep. Body temperature lowers dangerously in sleep. To keep awake each told stories to the other and tried to sing. Now and then they would slap each other on back and chest to promote circulation. In the frigid starlight could be dimly discerned the hazy dark-bluish landscape far below.

In the morning light the two men looked up at the 500 feet of rock overhang still to be climbed. It was sheeted with ice! When finally the climbers made it to the top they were exhausted, battered — at the absolute end of endurance.

"But," says Alvarez, "that is in itself something. After all, to know how much you can take is a form of valuable self-knowledge. And more important were the resources we had to call on — the doggedness that prevented us from simply giving up."

"At no point did we feel we were fighting the mountain: the battle was only with ourselves." As he sums it up: "The pleasure is in doing something difficult something that extends your concentration and effort and resources, without your losing control."

That I suppose is what makes the mountaineer, the secret of his fascination. And also it is what makes any person dynamic and alive. Hardships and dangers seem to repeatedly force the mountain climber to battle fear and exhaustion — to focus his whole being on every move — to think and be in complete command of everything he does. He never gives up. Life is always a very immediate dynamic experience for him. Perhaps something of this was what the great naturalist John Muir had in mind when he commented, "Thousands of nerve-shaken, overcivilized people are beginning to find out that going to the mountains is going home."

This conflict with self in mountain climbing carries over to life itself. One of the greatest of life's victories is gaining control over yourself. Being pushed around by a disorganized, vapid self is neither efficient nor happy. And in the struggle for self-mastery you increasingly gain conscious power — you come alive. Tennyson put it this way: "Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control. These three alone lead life to sovereign power."

WHO DOESN'T have a problem with himself at times? The self can really get you down. And often it is easy to think: "I am sick of struggling," and give in to discouragement thoughts. But to do that is a terrible injustice to yourself. No one has to give up ever. In fact, H. G. Wells, the writer, thinks it would not be good any other way. He said, "What on earth would a man do with himself if something did not stand in his way?" It would be a pretty dull life without struggle, wouldn't it?

MEL DIBBLE

Ex-TV Emcee Brings Crusade to Lakewood 1st

Mel Dibble, former television and radio personality, will bring his team to First Baptist Church of Lakewood, 5336 Arbor Road, for an eight-day Spiritual Life Crusade starting Sunday night.

Nine years ago Dibble was slated to replace Jack Lescault of "Today" fame on network TV, but instead of signing the contract he met with Billy Graham in a hotel room and changed his plans.

Since then he has conducted revivals in churches and youth camps, and has worked with the Graham crusade. He traveled with his wife Ruth as singing evangelists for some time. The Dibble team now includes musicians Murray and Jerri Turner, who joined him as newswomen upon graduation from John Brown University, and his mother, "Mom" Dibble will conduct a daily women's Bible class at 10 a.m. and will be available for personal counseling.

Dibble says his approach to evangelism uses the format of the audience participation show he once emceed on national TV. People who attend night meetings have generally worked all day, he explains, and his aim is to put them in a good frame of mind to make them more receptive to his message.

BRIEFLY...

Love, a Distinguished Visitor, and 'Speak Up'

By LES RODNEY

When a word like "love" gets kicked around a bit loosely — as in excusing selfish promiscuity, or as a battery of some of the less lovable dropouts pretending to be principled rebels — an unfortunate reaction is sometimes to draw away from the good word itself.

Reminders shouldn't be necessary, but we are reminded by a local pastor (in another context) that when the Apostle Paul was summarizing the greatest attributes of the Christian religion he used these words: "Now faith, hope, love, abide." . . . But the greatest of these is love.

It is to be doubted that St. Paul would be willing to give the word away to those who misused it. Or to stop loving them.

THE NOTED Quaker churchmen, Dr. Elton Trueblood, will spend a busy couple of days in Long Beach. He will be featured speaker Thursday night Jan. 18 at the Council of Churches second annual Spotlight awards banquet, and will present a lecture the following afternoon to the state convention of Church Women United.

Dr. Trueblood, who is in a direct line of eight generations of Quakers, recently retired from the philosophy professorship at Earlham College, and as professor-at-large will continue to lecture and write. His 25 volumes include "The Humor of Christ," "The People Called Quakers" and "General Philosophy." We will have an interview with him in next Saturday's paper.

RANKING HIGH among potential successors to the late Francis Cardinal Spellman in New York is the Most Rev. John Francis

Dearden of Detroit, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. Archbishop Dearden, 60, is noted for his "Speak Up" operation in Detroit, which has just completed a 10-week series of sessions by 9,500 "Speak Up" groups in the 329 parishes. Overall theme is "Seeking Progress Together."

Results will lay down guidelines for church operations — in worship, roles of clergy and laity, education, ecumenical relations and community activity.

The archbishop holds that the church needs "the free voice of our people on all topics."

Reports Jane Wolford, director of the archdiocese's Institute for Continuing Education, which is in charge of parish participation in the project: "There has been a sort of wildfire effect as people get more and more excited about it. It has created an unusual sense of community throughout the archdiocese, a new realization that everyone shares in responsibility for the whole church."

Says Rev. Bernard Cooke, Jesuit Biblical scholar: "This program is the kind of imaginative leadership we so badly need if we are to realize the hopes of Vatican II."

Dearden, through his success in bringing ferment into the open and channeling it into constructive change "from the bottom up" rather than the usual vice versa, is considered a steady factor in the current ment heady renewal situation.

The thinking of those who hopefully see him taking over the leadership of the vast New York archdiocese is that New York has yet to reflect the trend toward involving the rank and file, while Detroit now has the momentum and secondary leadership to carry the work forward.

CONSIDERING all the medals, plaques and commendations that pour out of Washington, those in the capital concerned with the nation's image abroad might do a lot worse than salute Dr. Bob Pierce, who last week resigned the presidency of World Vision Inc. for health reasons.

The dynamic evangelist founded the relief and missionary service agency 17 years ago. Its outstanding record in Korea, and now in Vietnam, are but part of its work with the needy, with orphaned and abandoned children, etc. in 19 countries. Over $40 million has been received and distributed under his supervision. He has virtually lived in South Vietnam the past four years, despite repeated hospitalizations.

A distinguishing characteristic of Bob Pierce's work is his willingness and ability to use modern techniques.

THE FACT that you can get an honest difference of opinion among American Protestants on the question of "social action" by the churches will come as no surprise to the reader. A poll conducted by Christian Herald, one of the larger interdenominational magazines, with a readership preponderantly among conservative bodies, asked "do you think the church organizationally should be involved in such projects as open housing, poverty programs, fair employment practices, and social action issues generally?" Forty nine per cent answered yes. The remainder either voted no or did not answer that question, indicating at least that they had questions or misgivings about social action by the church.

On other questions, a whopping 89 per cent were in favor of birth control, and 77 per cent OK'd sex education in public schools.

Stay With COCU

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Methodist Commission on Ecumenical Affairs recommended at a meeting here that the new United Methodist Church continue in a church union plan involving 10 Protestant denominations.

The action will be placed before the general uniting conference of the Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren Churches in Dallas in April. The union plan is being studied by a group called the Consultation on Church Union (COCU), of which both the Methodists and Brethren churches have been members.

Christian Growth Transforming Africa's Churches

(This is the second of two articles reporting on the growth and problems of Christianity in Black Africa.)

By LAWRENCE FELLOWS

New York Times Service

NAIROBI, Kenya — By sympathetic pastoral work the established churches have managed to hang onto some of the dissidents, and to win back some who left to form their own churches.

Often the established churches are transformed in the process. In the Anglican Church the wives of polygamous marriages can now be baptized. In the Roman Catholic Church the pressure to allow these women the sacrament of baptism is growing.

More often the churches have not transformed themselves fast enough, and the revivalists and dissidents continue to break away at the rate of nearly 200,000 worshippers a year. With the new converts these independent churches win from paganism and with the natural increase in their populations, they are growing really at the rate of nearly 400,000 a year.

There are more than 5,000 distinct religious and ecclesiastical organizations in Africa that are independent of the established churches, with nominal adherents totaling more than seven million people.

THE SPREAD of independency seems to be moving from tribe to adjacent tribe, with little relation to national boundaries, and blossoming in places into clusters that embrace several tribes. A third of all the tribes in Africa have been affected by the spread of independency.

With 20 million Africans nominally Protestant and 30 million Catholic, the established churches are still much bigger than the independents. But even the established churches are being swept up in change, and many theologians say that the scale of the movement exceeds even that of the Reformation, the great religious revolution of the 16th Century that gave rise to the evangelical and Protestant organizations of Western Christendom.

"As a schismatic movement the scale of this is unparalleled in the entire history of the expansion of Christianity," according to Rev. David B. Barrett, research director for the Church of the Province of East Africa.

As a whole the independent African churches seem of mixed character: part Christian, part pagan, part political, part personal. The roots of their dissidence lie in various directions: In their wish to retain polygamy, their dislike of medication or vaccination, their longing to retain the prominent role of ancestors in their worship, their desire to keep beer drinking and dancing in their rituals, sometimes in their political ambitions and frustrations, or their animosity toward a bishop or a priest.

BECAUSE SOME missionaries assumed too often that tribal custom could never be more than a part of the pagan past, and because white missionaries were too often identified with white colonial administrators, some of the movements were started partly as a form of rebellion against white authority. But color does not appear to be much of a factor now.

Some African governments have tried to pursue a line of Black African nationalism in religion, as in Guinea, where President Sekou Toure this year deported all the white priests and nuns in the country. He invited African priests and nuns from other countries to move into Guinea to help fill the vacancies in the missions and in their schools and hospitals.

In the former French Congo last year the government forbade the teaching of the catechism in all mission schools, and then nationalized them. All Catholic and Protestant youth organizations were declared illegal, and merged into the official national revolutionary movement for Congolese youth.

GENERALLY, the churches, especially the independent churches, object to interference of being used in anyone's political cause.

Barrett has collected evidence that the spread of independent churches has followed closely the publication of the scriptures in tribal languages.

"The translations accentuate the biblical character of the entire movement," Barrett maintains. "The demand for vernacular scriptures is picked up by one tribe from the next. The surge toward independency appears to follow soon after they get their own translation of the Bible."

The Anglican archbishop of East Africa, Most Rev. Leonard Beecher, attributes the rise in independency not so much to Bible translations as to adverse social and political conditions in the tribes of the areas most affected.

He points to South Africa, with its strained political and social atmosphere, and its proliferation of independent churches — 3,000 of them, with more than three million members.

The Congo, with a sordid history of slave trading and then colonial rule and then, since independence, a lurching, uncontrollable succession of crises, has 500 independent churches and would seem to exemplify Beecher's contention. On the other hand, Rwanda, which has suffered one of the most brutal revolutions on the continent, has none.

"Well, it is happening," the archbishop said. "Let's not argue about that. It has caught on like wildfire. Africa has taken Christianity to its heart."

"There has been a deepening of spiritual life, something spontaneous, but I wouldn't press the historical comparisons," he added. "The Reformation was rather more stormy and aggressive. The revival movements of the last century are more akin to it. I think. Anyway, it is very big, very real. It is Christian, and a vital part of Africa."

'Involved' School by Methodists

A "School for Involved Christians" will be launched Sunday night by California Heights Methodist Church, at Orange Avenue and Bixby Road.

Scheduled from 7 to 8:30 p.m., the sessions each week will feature a different person or couple who will relate in depth personal experiences and influences which led them to Christian commitment.

First "class" this Sunday will bring Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Working Jr. to the podium. He was a district sales manager for a computer control firm, when he decided to go into the ministry. He is currently completing his work at USC preparatory to entering Fuller Theological Seminary in the Spring, and serves the church as youth director. His wife, Marjorie, in addition to being a homemaker — the Working have four boys, 6 through 9 — attends Cal State at Long Beach where she is studying English.

The following three Sunday night sessions will feature Rev. and Mrs. Richard Acosta of the Spanish-American Institute of Gardena (Mrs. Acosta was a member of the Nazi youth organization in Germany as a girl); Dr. C. Richard Shanon, coordinator of the famed Metro Project in San Diego; and Ron Ritchie, former disc jockey in Africa, now education director in a Walnut Creek Presbyterian church.

There will be a social period with refreshments, and child care will be provided

King Group Gets Grant to Train City Clerics

The Ford Foundation Friday announced a $230,000 grant for a Negro ministerial training program in urban leadership to be conducted in 15 cities of the North and South by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (S.C.L.C.).

At the same time, the Foundation announced a $522,000 grant to the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice for a national program to influence equal employment policies among commercial firms that do business with churches.

In making the announcement, McGeorge Bundy, president of the Foundation, said:

"Religious leaders of all faiths are recognizing the need for a new and broader role for the ministry in the

at all four sessions. The sponsoring church groups invite the community.

Purpose of the project was put this way by Kenneth Working: "I believe that every layman should concern himself with what's going on in the mission field. If Christ is worth serving he is worth sharing. When a church member isn't able to articulate his faith, I think he should expose himself to those who can as often as possible. There are as many ways to serve as there are individuals, but the important thing is a desire to serve."

crisis of the cities, and this Foundation has made earlier grants to other groups for work in the same field. There is an obvious and special opportunity and responsibility here for Negro clergymen, and it seems to us clear beyond argument that Dr. Martin Luther King and his associates are qualified to give unusual leadership in educational work with members of this group.

"This grant therefore is for a specific set of educational activities, and not for general support of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference as a whole. Dr. King and his associates have other commitments that fall outside the areas in which a tax-exempt foundation should give support. But Dr. King and the S.C.L.C. have a standing among American Negroes, a passionate commitment to non-violence, and a proven concern for the social commitment of the clergy which make their Southern Christian Leadership Foundation, in our judgment, an outstanding instrument for this particular educational effort."

The seminars will cover more than 40 subjects such as the history of the civil rights movement, urban sociology, economics, urban renewal, housing, employment, small business development, and government antipoverty programs. Participants will receive study and reference materials for use in continuing education activities in their communities.

SET COUNCIL AWARD FETE

Edward C. Purnell, chairman of event, holds poster advertising Spotlight Award dinner by Long Beach Area Council of Churches. Outstanding minister, layman and laywoman will be honored at second annual event Jan. 18 in Lafayette Hotel, which will also mark Council's 15th anniversary. Guest speaker will be Dr. Elton Trueblood, noted Quaker educator and author. Dinner is open to public, with reservations obtainable at churches and Council office. Funds taken in over costs are used for Council's programs of weekday Christian education, youth activities, and chaplaincy.

S.C.L.C. hopes to offer the seminars to additional ministers who will receive funds for participation from other sources. The ministers who complete the seminars will be assisted when they return to their communities in organizing continuing economic, education and social-change programs. They will help organize courses in employment and economic development, housing, political processes and voter registration, welfare, education, and legal services. The educational effort begun with the seminars will continue through local retreats, local seminars, and discussion meetings.

GOINGS ON

Woodruff United Church of Christ, 3908 Woodruff Ave., will host the Pacific University Concert Band and Singers, 93 student musicians, in a concert Thursday, 8 p.m. It is the famed group's only appearance in the Long Beach area this year. Singers will include works by Johannes Brahms, Lassus and Pandall Thompson. The band has scheduled Schumann, the well known Toccata by Frescobaldi, and the award-winning composition "Variations on a Korean Folk Song" by John Barnes Chance. William A. Scales, former director of the famed Hampton Institute Choir, is director of the Pacific University Singers. Pastor Wakeland of the host church suggests calling the church for seat information.

The Vocal Arts Ensemble, a newly formed group of select singers dedicated to performing music as it was originally intended, will present a program Sunday, 8 p.m. in St. Luke's Episcopal, Atlantic Avenue and Seventh Street, along with a chamber orchestra. Numbers will span from 16th Century motet style to works of Benjamin Britten and Francis Poulenc, and parts of the Christmas Oratorio of J. S. Bach. Several members have soloed with the Norman Luboff, Roger Wagner and Robert Shaw chorales. . . The Blind Hong Kong Choir, which made a big hit the first time, will return to Lakewood Village Community, 4919 Centralia St., at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday, before leaving on a nationwide tour. They will receive from the church a number of instruments for use in a new school for the blind being established by this choir in Taiwan.

Roland R. Hegstad, head of the religious liberty department for the worldwide Seventh-day Adventists, and editor of the magazine Liberty, will speak Wednesday evening, 7:30, in Seventh-day Adventist, 1001 E. Third St. . . Rev. Laurence Christenson, pastor of Trinity Church of San Pedro and conference lecturer, will speak Monday, 7:30 p.m. in Bethany Lutheran, 4644 Clark Ave. on Christian family life.

THEOLOGIAN AT TRUETT

Dr. Charles Feinberg, who prepared for the rabbinate as a youth, converted to Christianity and is now dean of Talbot Theological Seminary at Biola College, will lecture for four consecutive nights at Truett Memorial Baptist Church starting Sunday on "The Second Coming of Christ." He also serves as professor of Semitics and Old Testament, and has written books on theology. Lectures start 7 p.m. at the church located at 3435 San Anselme Ave.

... GO BY THE LAW

Almost Loses Her Home for $16 Tax

FRESNO (UPI) — Directors of the Fresno Irrigation District relented Friday and said they will allow Mrs. Eva Good to keep her home.

Mrs. Good, an elderly Indian from nearby Clovis, failed to pay $16 in taxes and penalties to the district
during the past four years, and under state law could have been evicted. The house, valued at about $5,000, could have been sold at public auction with all proceeds going to the irrigation district.

However, by a 4-1 vote
the district directors decided to let her pay her bill — now totaling $27.50 with additional filing and recording fees — and keep the house.

The only dissenter on the board, Ferdinand A. Preuss, said: "I think we ought to treat them all (tax defaults) alike. We're not a board of human relations here. We merely go by the law."

N. Wendell Hansen, an attorney who represented

Mrs. Good at the meeting, said several persons had called him wanting to help, and eight checks were received by the irrigation district to pay Mrs. Good's tax bill. The checks will be returned.

Hansen said Mrs. Good also will pay $250 in property taxes she owes the Fresno County tax collector. "Then I'll advise her to keep paying her taxes when they're due," he said.

$10,000 Bail for Captured L.A. Fugitive

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —
Edgar Albert Lipman Jr., 26, who was captured two months after he escaped
from the Hall of Justice,
Friday had his bail set at $10,000.

Municipal Judge Joan Dempsey Klein ordered the 6-foot-2, 300-pound defendant to return to court next Friday for a preliminary hearing.

Lipman was arrested
Thursday in Huntington Park by the FBI on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to escape prosecution. The warrant was issued after it was reported Lipman might have fled to Albuquerque,
N.M., following his escape
Nov. 1.

LIPMAN and another prisoner, Robert Charles Kegher, 23, escaped as they were being taken to court
by a bailiff whom they threatened with a piece of sharpened steel. Kegher was recaptured Nov. 3 in Tujunga.

The FBI said Kegher also had escaped from a state Department of Corrections
camp in San Diego County with two other inmates last August. He was recaptured
16 days later.

S.F. State President Supported

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —
A task force appointed to investigate the "stewardship" of Dr. John Sum-merskill as president of San Francisco State College said Friday it would recommend he be retained as head of the college.

A spokesman for the task force said after a closed-door meeting that a detailed report of its findings would be sent to the California State Colleges Board of Trustees at its Jan. 24-25 meeting.

After the meeting, the second held by the task force, Donald M. Hart of Bakersfield, chairman of the board of trustees and a member of the task force said:

"ON THE BASIS of the committee's investigation and evaluation of Dr. Sum-merskill's stewardship, the committee will recommend to the board his retention as president of San Francisco State College."

The task force was named by Hart after Dr.
Summerskill was criticized for his handling of a violent melee on the San Francisco campus Dec. 6.

Demos Hit Welfare Red Tape

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —
Assembly Democrats
charged Friday that administrative costs of running the state welfare program have increased 25 per cent since Gov. Regan took office.

Assemblyman Winfield
A. Shoemaker, D-Lompoc, chairman of the Assembly
Democratic Caucus, said
"The amount of money received by recipients has gone up only about one-third as fast as the amount of money wasted on red tape."

Shoemaker said a study made at his request by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post showed administrative costs under the Reagan government rose 25 per cent in 1968-67 while benefits paid out to people increased only 9 per cent.

HE SAID social workers were buried by a maze of paperwork that required 70 per cent of their time simply to fill out forms.

"With all this paperwork,
it comes as very little surprise that no one is getting off the welfare rolls — no one has much time to work at getting people off and into jobs," Shoemaker said.

He added that many Californians are convinced the welfare system is "a barrier of discouragement."

Shoemaker said the major political parties and economists—both conservative and liberal—are reaching a consensus that the entire welfare concept needs overhauling.

Boyington Lands in Jail

INDIO (UPI) — World War II Marine Corps flying ace Gregory (Pappy) Boy-ington has been jailed after a disturbance in a Chinese restaurant.

Sheriff's deputies said they were called to the restaurant in Cathedral City.
They said they found Boy-ington prone on the floor
near the rear door and unable to stand alone.

Gregory, whose "Black Sheep" squadron made fighting history in World War II, was unable to make bail. He resides in Cathedral City.

Lake Pat or Ishi or Maybe Maidu? The Dam is Oroville

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —
The State Water Commission decided Friday to call Oroville Dam by the only name it has ever known — Oroville Dam.

But the commission failed to agree on what to call the sprawling reservoir
it will impound and delayed a decision until its Feb. 2 meeting at Oakland.

The Commission, ordered by the 1957 legislature after three years of controversy to find an official title for the keystone of the state water project, culled
through eight other proposals before voting unanimously to keep Oroville Dam as Oroville Dam.

THE WAY seemed clear to officially name the reservoir Lake Oroville or Oroville Reservoir. But abruptly Commissioners William Moses and Ray E. Ferguson announced their reluctance to vote.

Ferguson asked whether it was a "necessity to keep the dam and reservoir (names) together," adding,
"I'm certainly not ready to name the lake."

Moses urged that the decision be delayed until the next meeting so "we can get a chance to talk among ourselves." Chairman Ira Chrisman said no further testimony would be heard at the next meeting since the Commission has held two special hearings on the issue.

Names submitted by citizens and groups for the reservoir included Ishi Lake, after the last "wild" California Indian; Lake Pat after former Gov. Edmund G.

(Pat) Brown; Lake Maidu
for another Indian Tribe; Smiling Spirit Lake, and Ferde Grofe lake for the composer of the "Grand Canyon Suite."

Kirschke Likely to Testify for Himself in Penalty Trial

JACK KIRSCHKE

Convicted slayer Jack Kirschke and his lawyer plan to meet this morning in Los Angeles County Jail to decide whether Kirschke will take the stand in his own behalf when his penalty trial opens Monday.

Albert C. S. Ramsey, attorney for the former deputy district attorney, said Friday he will meet today with Kirschke, held without bail at the jail.

Ramsey came as close as he could to actually saying the 46-year-old Kirschke will speak in his own behalf.

He said Friday he wouldn't be "surprised if the jury hears officially" from the former head of the district attorney's Downey office.

KIRSCHKE WAS convicted in the April 8 murders of his wife, Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, and Orville William Drankhan, 41, an aircraft electronics manufacturer, found shot to death in Kirschke's bedroom in a Naples apartment.

The penalty phase of the trial — to set the punishment for Kirschke — wasn't expected to last more than a day until Ramsey began hinting the convicted killer may take the stand in his own defense.

Courtroom observers were skeptical the jurors would return a death penalty verdict against Kirschke, although during the impaneling of the jury, Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris carefully asked each prospective juror about the death penalty.

The jury can recommend either life in prison or death in the gas chamber based on Kirschke's two first-degree murder convictions.

Cal-State Faculty Opposes Trustees on Crackdown

The Academic Senate at California State College at Long Beach voted overwhelmingly Friday to ask the State Board of Trustees to rescind a December resolution cracking down on student demonstrators.

The senate, which represents the college faculty, charged the trustees' resolution removed "discretion and flexibility in dealing with disciplinary cases" from local college presidents.

Senators said present regulations in the state education code adequately cover college discipline problems and the authority exercised by individual college presidents had helped avert more serious crises.

Only one senator voted against the resolution.

THE TRUSTEES' resolution declared that any student who is found "to have disrupted, or to have attempted to disrupt, by force or violence, or by threat of force or violence, any part of the instructional program of a state college, or any meeting, recruiting interview or other activity authorized to be held at the college, shall be suspended and dismissed."

One student group at the college, Student Action Committee, is currently protesting the presence of military recruiters in the campus free speech area and the college commons, but the college administration says there has been no unlawful activity in the controversy.

The December trustees' resolution followed violent incidents at state colleges in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Final Load of Supplies to Indians

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

Distribution of the final load of emergency supplies collected in Long Beach for the blizzard-blitzed Navajos of northern Arizona was scheduled to start today from a missionary outpost on the reservation 80 miles northeast of Winslow.

A truck-trailer rig which left Long Beach late Thursday with ten tons of food and winter clothing was expected to be delivered early today at the interdenominational Navajo Gospel Mission at Pinon.

THREE SMALLER trucks at the mission will deliver the supplies as far as newly cleared roads will permit. From these points, Indian volunteers will pack the materials over deeply drifted trails by horseback.

Most of the supplies are still packed for air-drop by parachute, as were 12 tons delivered directly to remote, snowbound areas over the year-end holiday period. Four flights were made by DC3 aircraft supplied and operated by Flight Test Research, Inc., 2680 E. Wardlow Road.

The final load was originally intended for a fifth flight by a larger military aircraft currently based in Long Beach and conducting operations into the Arizona New Mexico area.

Government permission for use of the aircraft for the mercy mission was refused.

Sky Knight Helicopter Gives Crowd Control Exhibition

A helicopter added a new dimension to the Long Beach Police Department's review of chemical weapons use Friday, wafting clouds of tear gas with its rotors to show how it could help ground forces control an angry mob.

The demonstration by a Sheriff's Department Sky Knight helicopter climaxed the three-hour refresher course for 75 Long Beach officers, from the ranks of captain to sergeant, authorized to use tear gas.

Methods of using new types of tear gas and chemical sprays which temporarily disable belligerent suspects were discussed earlier in an underground bunker of the city's Civil Defense Facility at 4000 E. Spring St.—former Army Nike missile base.

Gene Jones, former FBI agent representing a Berkeley supplier of law enforcement equipment, said techniques used by some civil disobedience demonstrators to avoid the effects of disabling sprays hadn't worked as planned.

"A few of them have tried wearing goggles and smearing their faces with vaseline," he said. "It only works in cold temperatures. When the grease melts from body heat, it seals the chemical in and intensifies the effect."

He also said law enforcement officers have discovered some people apparently are impervious to the chemicals.

"If it doesn't work the first time, forget it," he advised the group.

Lt. Don Tubbs, chief of in service training for Long Beach police, said chemical sprays have been used locally up to now only on unruly prisoners in the city jail, but will be available for crowd control later this year.

Rossmoor Bank Held Up

A bandit escaped with approximately $3,000 Friday from a Crocker-Citizens National Bank branch in the Rossmoor Shopping center Friday, according to Seal Beach police.

The man, armed with a .38 caliber revolver entered the office around 2:10 p.m. and shouted, "This is a hold-up. Everybody on the floor."

Sgt. R. F. Rolston said the gunman then scooped up money from three teller's cages, walked out the front door and disappeared into a group of shoppers.

Witnesses said the man was in his early 40s, 5-feet 7-inches in height, 170 pounds and dressed in a gold sweater and dark trousers.

It Was This Way—He Needed a Car

Without editorial comment, Harbor Division police Friday filed a stolen-car report setting forth the alleged facts as follows:

At 1 p.m. a man was seen looking over used cars at the Soderstrom agency lot at 1553 S. Pacific Avenue, San Pedro.

He seemed to be about 21 years old, six foot-one, with light brown reddish hair and a thick mustache, of light complexion, and wearing a yellow shirt and brown Ivy League pants.

Salesman Warren E. Garrett asked the visitor if he was interested in buying a car.

"I WANT TO steal a car," the man answered.

Garrett later explained (the police report said) he interpreted "steal" as meaning "get a good buy."

The stranger sat in a late model limousine. He started the engine. He backed the car a couple of feet, then turned off the engine and got out.

"It doesn't have enough gas," he said. Garrett told him if he REALLY intended to steal a car, he wouldn't get away with it.

"I'M GOING TO steal a car," the man said, again. "I have to get to the airport. They won't catch me."

Just then, Garrett was paged on the yard's loudspeaker system. As he turned away, he saw the stranger jump into a white-over-burgundy 1966 sedan and drive speedily north on Pacific, right through a light at 15th Street.

At latest check, hours later, police still hadn't caught him.

STEPHEN MCKINNEY... "There Was a Time I Lived Real Fine"

AND SHOES GET THIN

Sometimes Even Memories Rust

By DICK EMERY

He does look a bit older than his 62 years — grizzled cheeks, broken and missing front teeth, sun-bleached pale blue eyes.

He was on his way — he said — walking down from Los Angeles to pick up his first Social Security check.

"They're holding it for me at the Beacon Light Mission in San Pedro. San Pedro's been my home, sort of, since the '30s.

"I GOT plans for that check. Some clothes. A bath. And I know a dentist who pulls three teeth for a dollar."

Stephen McKinney, able bodied seaman of years bygone, sat resting on the railroad track, his old hat shielding his eyes from the morning sun, his bedroll held snug under his right arm.

"This used to be a heat blanket," he said, touching the bedroll. "Out of whack, now. Hoo, boy, it was cold last night! Frost!"

He said the long walk down the railroad track beside Alameda Street, from Los Angeles to the harbor area, was hard on the feet.

"My shoes are about worn out," he said. "I gotta buy shoes, once I get that Social Security check."

The last few years have been the worst for McKinney, he said. He can't pass the physical, anymore, for duty as an able bodied seaman. He last sailed in 1950 on a Greek tanker hauling oil from the Persian Gulf to England.

"BOOZE DID me in," he said. "Booze and women. But, you know, there was a time, I lived real fine. I had a good home, and a good woman, and a good automobile. That was back in '30, at Watertown, New York.

"I was bootlegging, those Depression times. I kept the soldiers and the restaurant trade supplied with booze.

"The bottom fell out soon as Roosevelt got in there. I went back to sea, on tankers, mostly.

"I've been a seaman all my life. I was born in Lowland, North Carolina. When I was 9, I went to sea at Cape Hatteras, on a schooner — a sailing ship — the James C. Clark. Not as a cabin boy, either — as a seaman. I was pretty near big as I am now I only weigh 115 now.

"You ever hear of Captain Villiers? Alan Villiers? Won the Great Grain Race in '33. Well, I sailed for him, on the Parma which won the race. Around the Horn — cold, cold! I'd like to see him again. He's an old man now."

(That's Capt. Alan John Villiers, distinguished man of sails, author of many authoritative books on sailing, who skippered the victorious windjammer Parma on the 16,000-mile Grain Race from Australia to England in 83 days in 1933 "despite raging gales and irksome calms" — a great classic in the history of square-riggers, 20 of which then were still engaged in Australia-to-England wheat hauling.)

MCKINNEY STOOD up, painfully, and resumed his walk along the tracks, heading for San Pedro.

"I've been living on handouts," he said. "Get 'em anyway you can. It's an awful way to get by. I get a job now and then, cleaning a men's room at a filling station, stuff like that.

"Where I've been staying, in L.A., costs 90 cents a night. When you're on the bum, it won't do to have any money on you. Anybody knows you got any money on you, you're gone. Two men jumped me just a couple of nights ago and twisted my arm so it still hurts. But I didn't have anything. Not a penny.

"They wouldn't have got by so easy when I was a young fella. Back in '26 I did a little fighting. I fought at smokers, in England. One fight I had was on the liner President Harding. They were putting on a special fight show for William Gibbs McAdoo — you know, Wilson's son-in-law.

"It was a good fight, too. I won it. I knocked a Frenchman colder'n a turkey!"

Week's Wall Street Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made its 1968 debut on a confused but optimistic note, part of the rising on hopes of Vietnam peace and another part of the optimism because of President Johnson's proposals for correcting the nation's worsening balance of payments.

Many of the glamor stocks failed to participate during the last rally and consequently look relatively weak on a short-term basis. Stocks such as Xerox, Polaroid, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Sperry Rand all declined over 10 per cent during the recent sell-off. Since there was no significant distribution prior to the recent decline by the glamor stocks, many would appear temporarily over all on a short-term basis. A failure by these stocks to gain any real momentum during a recovery would provide a technical basis for taking some trading profits.

INSTITUTIONAL ACTIVITY failed to gain significant momentum during the yearend rally. As stated in the past, no move of more than minor significance is expected to develop until there is a decisive improvement in this area. Among the stocks under large-scale accumulation which are regarded favorably on a technical basis are: Outboard Marine, Gulf & Western, Sunray DX, Purex,

A surprising highlight of the week's trading was a 4-point spurt by badly battered American Telephone & T&T would shape up much better as an investment if a drop in military spending resulted in lower interest rates and made its high dividend rate propo-

E. F. Hutton & Co., at the week's end, named these as the "positive aspects of a peace settlement:" easier money, lower interest rates, a strengthening of international paper oils could be staging a turn-around. However, more depth and momentum are needed in this area. Based on short-term considerations, Royal Dutch and Gulf Oil are the strongest members of this group. A wait-and-see attitude would be best here.

THE AEROSPACE STOCKS continue to show relative strength after their sharp run-up a few weeks ago. Renewed interest in this area should carry Avco, McDonnell Douglas and Grumman higher. The airlines have started to show increasing resistance to selling pressures. However, since there has been no significant buying pressure yet, would not expect more than a technical rebound by these Wall Street was unanimous in the belief that peace is bullish," even though some stocks might suffer temporary dislocations.

Of 1,642 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange this week, 876 rose and 661 fell.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.4 to 324.7.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 3.87 to 101.24 because of selective weakness in some of its blue chip components.

Volume for the four-day trading week, shortened by Aikman (34-35), Leaseway Transportation (30-31), Chrysler( 60-62), Sunray DX (45-47).

TALKS TO LIONS

Speaker Sees China Uprising

A mass uprising in Red China is not just possible but probable, according to a Naval Reserve officer who was born in Soochow and lived there 16 years.

Walter Snell of the Free Enterprise Speakers Bureau, the son of a onetime medical missionary to China, told Long Beach's Downtown Lions Club Friday the people of China yearn to overthrow the "disastrous" and "ruthless" regime of their Communist masters.

He indicated the Chinese masses need American help to achieve "liberation" from a government that has fostered one monumental failure after another. He referred to the setbacks of the "Great Leap Forward" and the "Great Cultural Proletarian Revolution" as examples of how ineffective the Reds have ruled on the mainland.

"The time is ripe for liberation, and Americans hold the key," Snell commented.

He did not allude to a specific role for Americans in the making of an uprising, but he called for citizens to express support for the idea through their representatives in Congress.

"An uprising by the Chinese people would be a major victory for freedom," Snell contended, "and the only course for peace."

HE SAID that should Mao Tse-tung's regime remain in power, the United States can expect two ominous developments: a continuation of aggression in Vietnam and an atomic attack on this country by the Red Chinese.

A successful coup by the pro-Soviet moderates would be only a little better in his opinion. Victory for the moderates likely would lead to world unity for the Communists, Snell concluded.

Snell, a Republican and medical salesman who resides in San Diego, addressed the Lions' weekly meeting through sponsorship of Coast Federal Savings.

He is a veteran of the U.S. Navy who served 3½ years in World War II and earned eight battle stars from Tarawa to Japan.

Firemen Sneak Into New Station

So silently you'd never know they were firemen, San Pedro smoke-eaters Friday moved into their newest and most elegant fire station.

It stands on concrete stilts over the harbor's edge as next-door neighbor to the Matson Dock on the Wilmington waterfront.

You could have heard a pin drop. No sirens, no bells, no rumble of mighty engines. A fireman in fatigues quietly attached a flag to a lanyard on the station's flagpole about 1 p.m. and raised the Colors.

THE NEW STATION will be a super-fireboat station — after a few minor hitches have been cleared up.

That's why the silence. Friday's move-in was an informal opening. Eventually there will be a formal opening, with sirens, bells, rumbles of mighty engines and even, maybe, a demonstration of valor by the fireboat itself.

"There's a little hitch in the slip," a fireman explained, in a voice hardly above a whisper.

"Has to be fixed. And we can't get our boat — that's Boat Four — until the bugs are worked out of Boat Five up at Oxnard. Meanwhile we'll run with a high-pressure wagon and a triple combination pump. Month or so — maybe even next March — everything will be set.

"Then we'll whoop it up!"

'Smut Movies' Trial Slated in Santa Ana

Bruce C. Schmidt, projectionist at the Guild Theater in Santa Ana, faces jury trial Feb. 6 in Municipal Court on charges of exhibiting obscene movies.

Santa Ana Municipal Judge Paul Mast, who presided at Schmidt's arraignment Friday, will also preside at the trial.

Two other employees of the theater, at 324 Fourth St., failed to appear for arraignment on the same charge, and Judge Mast issued bench warrants for their arrest with bail set at $3,000. Schmidt, of 6392

Tyrone Circle, Huntington Beach, told the court it was "undoubtedly an honest mistake" that his co-workers failed to appear.

The two other defendants are Gary Noel Johnson, 26, manager, of 213 W. Buffalo St., Santa Ana, and Lenore J. Linden, ticket seller, of 2283 Vancouver St., Anaheim.

Police raided the theater Thursday after Judge Mast sat through a regular performance and decided the fare was "extremely pornographic and totally without social value."

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — I went over to Warner Bros. to visit the "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas" set, but I didn't stay very long. After a half hour or so, the stage was cleared. Nothing personal, director Hy Averback assured me, it was simply policy when they shot a master scene.

(I'm told the policy has been instituted by the star, Peter Sellers, who should have gotten over his insecurity by now.)

BEFORE the boat was applied, I had been watching a scene in a funeral parlor. Sellers and Leigh Taylor-Young, who looked maxi-sexy in a miniskirt, were supposedly attending the funeral of Sellers' mother's butcher, which gives you a rough idea. This is a comedy about a lawyer (Sellers) who gets involved with the hippies.

The only reference to Miss Toklas (Gertrude Stein's late, great bosom buddy) is when Miss Taylor Young, the prima hippie, makes a batch of fudge brownies laced with marijuana. The recipe comes from Miss Toklas' cookbook, which may be the only cookbook ever banned in Boston.

The film was written and is being produced by a pair of comedy writers, Larry Tucker and Paul Mazursky, and this is their feature film bow.

"We have no cop-out if it doesn't work," Tucker, a large bearded man, said. "We wrote it, produced it, cast it. If it doesn't make it, it's our fault."

"But we'll find a cop-out if we need one," Mazursky added.

CASTING Leigh Taylor-Young in her first feature is one of their juiciest plums. It was a stroke of common sense, for her Peyton Place work (and romantic publicity) has given her a name and she is, besides all that, a good actress and a genuine beauty.

"This is different from television," Leigh said. "On TV, there's a tension, because of the speed you must have. But here the tension is because of the desire for perfection."

SHE was wearing a butterfly on her thigh. She said she painted it on herself every morning and said it wasn't just any old butterfly, but a monarch.

"I never knew any hippies before this," Leigh said. "I'd read about them but they were eons away from me. But we worked with them in some scenes of the picture, and I got to know them and I think they're important."

"The trouble is, as with every group of people who have ideals, some people hitch along who aren't interested in those ideals, but in the surface, trappings. That's what's happened to the hippies."

Real War Snags a War on Celluloid

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comments on the Hollywood scene:

Plans to stage the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor with a massive two-nation film production have hit a delay because of the Vietnam war. Filming was supposed to have begun this month on the Japanese portion of "Tora! Tora! Tora!," a monumental undertaking by 20th Century-Fox and the company of famed director Akira Kurosawa.

"But the picture can't be made without the cooperation of the U.S. Navy," reports Richard Fleischer, who is scheduled to direct the American portion of the film. "The Navy has offered to help, but it can't guarantee the use of ships because of the Vietnam situation."

"WE'D BE in terrible shape if we started filming with the ships and then had them pulled out for Vietnam. So now the picture is postponed until fall, when the situation might be more stable. The plan is to shoot the American part of the story first, and then follow with the Japanese portion."

"Tora," which means tiger, was the code word used by Japanese pilots to signal the success of their Dec. 7, 1941 mission.

Audiences at world's fairs have been dazzled by the use of multiple projections on a single screen — four, eight or more different movies being shown in checkerboard fashion. It was highly effective in the U.S. Pavilion of the Seattle

Fair, the Johnson's Wax Exhibit at New York, and in several presentations at Expo 67 in Montreal. The device is going to be employed in "The Boston Strangler" by Richard Fleischer.

HE EXPLAINS: "I think it fits the subject, because I want to show several actions going on at the same time. The screen will depict the levels of investigation that were being conducted, and it will also help to depict the fragmented personality of the stranger himself."

"Actually, the device isn't new. It is used all the time in television, especially in sports, when two or more simultaneous actions are pictured."

Dark glasses seem to be the new symbol of villainy on the screen. Mirrored glasses are sported by the sadistic chain gang boss who bedevils Paul Newman in "Cool Hand Luke." The secret police terrorists of "The Comedians" also sport cheaters. Remember when the movie heavies used to wear black hats and ride black horses?

Ailing Boy Gets Help From Cons—and Sixguns

DENVER (AP) — Fred Bettger Jr., 7, has a pair of Lone Ranger sixguns today and his father has $302 to help pay the medical bills from his son's hemophilia — all thanks to the inmates at Colorado State Penitentiary.

The convicts organized a "Freddy Fund" to raise money for the youngster after they learned his family was in financial straits. Contributions came in from all over the state and blood donors also came forward.

The youngster has required 60 pints of blood — at $27.50 apiece — since September, according to his father, an unemployed truck driver.

Inmates on the staff of the Chronicle, a semimonthly prison newspaper, added the pair of sixguns, each complete with a "silver" bullet, when they turned the money over to the family.

Belmondos Trade Charges, Split Up

PARIS (AP) — A Paris court Friday granted the divorce request of Mrs. Elodie Belmondo against her movie actor husband, Jean-Paul Belmondo.

Custody of the couple's three children was awarded to the mother and Belmondo was ordered to pay $1,500 a month for their support. The actor was given visiting rights.

The Belmondos were married in 1959. The actor was accused of having extramarital relations with a well-known actress. He has often been seen in the company of Ursula Andress.

BELMONDO URSULA

He alleged in turn that his wife had had extramarital relations in Switzerland and had publicly expressed a desire to find a new husband. The divorce was ordered with guilt shared equally by the two parties.

Slim Victory, Attendance for Troy; Hewitt Nets 26

By GEORGE LEDERER

The Trojans are featuring Bill Hewitt this season and it's a good thing.

Hewitt, a 6-7 senior, did it all — well, most of it — as USC opened Pacific Eight Conference basketball play with a 58-56 victory over the University of Washington Friday night.

The clincher, with only 40 seconds remaining, was a 15-foot, turn-around jump shot by Hewitt after the Huskies had come back to tie at 56-56.

Attendance at the L.A. Sports Arena was almost as slim as the Trojans' margin of victory. It was 1,771, but in basketball this hasn't been the Trojans' town for some time and the four-figure turnout was considered a moral victory.

Both coaches considered it a moral victory for the Huskies.

"It was tough to lose after we came back to tie," said Washington coach Mac Duckworth, "but I'm proud of our kids. We have a lot of sophomores and they made a sophomoric mistake."

Bob Boyd of USC wasn't particularly happy with his club, but said he was impressed by the Huskies. "I'm impressed by their enthusiasm. Duckworth has done a good job with his sophs."

Hewitt scored 26 points, high for both teams, and also led with 13 rebounds. It was his defensive rebound after his go-ahead basket that enabled the Trojans to run out the clock.

Boyd wasn't too impressed with Hewitt's statistics. "It definitely was not his best game. He was flat at times. He scored more because we're featuring him more on offense."

He's taking more shots." Hewitt took 18 shots and made 10.

Washington, with four sophomore starters, surprised the Trojans and ran up a 9-2 lead before USC could get its offense rolling. Once in gear, the Trojans dominated the final 12 minutes of the first half.

The Huskies were scoreless for four minutes and Mack Calvin's three-point play capped a USC rally, good for a 21-13 margin. USC led 35-30 at the half.

Washington regained the lead four times in the second half, the last time at 52-50 with eight minutes remaining. Two free throws by Hewitt tied it at 52.

Twice the Huskies came back to tie, and technically it was three times.

Soph forward Larry Bullock lost a shoe and, naturally, there were some strings attached. One of the Trojans retrieved it, tied it into knots and forced the Huskies to call a time out. The officials, however, decided to make the timeout their own.

For want of a shoe, the game wasn't lost. Bullock had only two points.

Tonight, the Trojans meet Washington State at the Sports Arena and the Huskies take on UCLA at Pauley Pavilion.

"If we can hold UCLA under 100 points, I'll be happy," said Duckworth.

Bruins Crush Cougars for Wooden's 400th

By LOEL SCHRADER

After 44 seconds of its game with UCLA Friday night at Pauley Pavilion, Washington State called a timeout to regroup.

For tonight's game with USC at the L.A. Sports Arena, that is.

During those 44 seconds, the Bruins blitzed to a 6-2 lead and were well on their way to coach John Wooden's 400th victory before 12,616 fans.

Lew Alcindor eventually poured in 32 points as the Bruins demolished the Cougars, 97-69, for their 43rd consecutive victory over a three-season span.

They are now tied with Long Island U. and Seton Hall for fifth place on the list of winning streaks, if you care to include Peru State of Nebraska, Pittsburgh State of Kansas and Panzer College of New Jersey.

If you wish to exclude these immortal quintets, the Bruins are chasing only the rainbows of 44 by the 1912-13 and 1916-17 Texas teams and the 60 by University of San Francisco from 1954 to 1957.

UCLA's victory shocked no one less than Cougar coach Marv Harshman, who admitted after the game that "we came down here hoping for a spill." Unless Harshman has taken leave of his senses, he undoubtedly was pointing toward the Trojans tonight.

The Bruins take on Washington tonight at 8 in Pauley and should match the victory strings of the ancient Texans without much trouble.

That's the way Harshman looks at the Bruins.

"They play just about as hard as they have to," he said. "They're better all-around than last year. We felt that with Mike Lynn and Edgar Lacey back, they would be 50 per cent better. Lew Alcindor is so much improved, too."

Harshman doesn't think any team can beat UCLA, but figures Houston as the "most likely one" to spring an upset.

Washington State played the Bruins man-for-man a year ago, but threw a 2-3 zone at them Friday night.

"Nobody can stop Alcindor."

dor one-on-one," said Harshman, recalling the 61 points Lew blew through the nets last year. "He could get 70 or 80 if they wanted to get the ball to him and not even Elvin Hayes of Houston could stop them."

Except for the opener against Purdue, this was by all odds UCLA's poorest overall performance. The Bruins shot only 40.7 per cent and, according to Wooden, "never really got our tempo going all night."

Alcindor's presence around the basket completely negated the brawn of the Cougars' 6-9 Jim McKean and 6-8 Ted Wiernman. The tall one from New York City blocked six shots, and McKean and Wiernman had only a basket apiece during the first 20 minutes, which ended with UCLA in front, 49-36.

Lynn Shackelford's sensational outside shooting kept the Bruins moving. Shackelford hit six field goals in the first half, connecting from distances of 10, 16, 18, 19, 20 and 25 feet.

The Cougars pulled within 10 points of the Bruins early in the second half, but the Bruins tossed in 11 consecutive points to blow the game open at 65-43. They twice had leads of 31 points in the late action.

Lacey's performance was one of his best. He scored 15 points and had nine rebounds. McKean led the Cougars with 23, most of them coming after Alcindor had gone to the bench.

The Cougars tried a platoon system twice during the game, switching complete units. Harshman confessed that the tactic really was designed to conserve his players' energy for tonight.

COUSY DENIES OFFER BY KNICKS

BOSTON (UPI) — Bob Cousy, former Boston Celtics great, now head basketball coach at Boston College, denied Friday he would return to pro ball as coach for the New York Knickerbockers.

Dave Burgin, sports editor for the Washington Daily News, said in his column that Cousy "definitely" would leave the college ranks and return to the National Basketball Assn.

"I have not been contacted by, nor have I talked to, anybody from the Knickerbockers or Madison Square Garden," Cousy said.

He said he had received several offers to coach since leaving the Celtics after the 1962-63 season and "would always be willing to listen to any reasonable offer. But I also would like to stress I am very happy here at Boston College."

49ers Roll—Titans Lost in 'Shuffle'

By JIM McCORMACK

With the exception of the Lakers, no team can win with only two good players.

Cal State Fullerton learned that Friday night when nine Long Beach State athletes scored as the 49ers opened their CCAA schedule with an 86-67 victory over the Titans.

Long Beach will try to make it two in a row tonight, hosting another conference rookie, Cal Poly, Pomona, in an 8 o'clock encounter. Frosh clubs vie at 6:30.

Two former Long Beach City College performers, Joe Ware and Jon Thompson, were the men that Fullerton put its money on, and although the duo combined for 41 of the Titans' points, they couldn't contend with Long Beach's "shuffle" offense.

Long Beach coach Randy Sandefur caught Fullerton by surprise by opening with a control attack instead of running.

Guard Jim Greenfield, starting for the first time, directed the 49er attack masterfully, scoring four points and passing for eight more as Long Beach opened a 16-point advantage in the first seven minutes.

When the 49ers became too deliberate, Fullerton began a comeback of its own, cutting the lead to four, 30-26, on a shooting spree by Ware and Thompson.

Sandefur then turned the 49er offense to "run" by replacing Greenfield with Rick Mancebo and Long Beach quickly straightened itself out with a 15-2 burst that required 2:50.

Sandefur's maneuvering paid off again in the final half when a brief Fullerton flurry trimmed Long Beach's lead to eight, 60-52, with 11:40 remaining.

Sandefur sent in Bob Stephens, who first passed to Dick Nelson to key one score and then dropped in four points himself. Don Ludwig scored four successive points and the 49ers had killed a possible shoot out.

Nelson led Long Beach with 19 points and 13 rebounds, followed by Ludwig.

wig with 15, Mike Montgomery with 14 and Stephens with 11.

Ware also had 13 caroms and led all scorers with 21 points. Thompson was right behind with 20.

Nelson, who now has turned in three consecutive outstanding performances, also contributed five assists, one less than the game-high Mancebo. Long Beach, which led in rebounds, 62-53, also had an edge in assists, 17-5.

WSU HIRES MONTANA ST. GRID COACH

SPOKANE, (AP) — Jim Sweeney, who directed Montana State University to three Big Sky Conference football championships the past four years, was named the new head football coach Friday for Washington State University.

The 38-year-old Sweeney, who says he doesn't believe in a dull brand of football, was named to the $20,000 a year post under a one-year contract by WSU president W. Glenn Terrell.

Sweeney succeeds Bert Clark, whose Cougars wound up in the conference cellar last fall with a 2-8 record.

Clark was released from his reported $19,700 a year contract last November with one year to go.

Sweeney has been head coach at Montana State University since the spring of 1963. His teams have won the Big Sky Conference football championships, and his over-all record the past four years at the Bozeman, Mont., school is 31-19.

Terrell's announcement came after several hours of meetings with Sweeney and members of the university's board of regents.

Terrell said Sweeney previously met with members of the WSU Athletic Council and the WSU athletic director Stan Bates told him Sweeney "is the best man for the job. He is highly respected by the athletes he has coached as well as by the public."

Bates said between 50 and 60 applications were received for the job after Clark's contract was terminated.

Casper Eagles Way Into Tie for SoCal Lead

Last-minute entry Al Johnston, making a pro golf comeback, and former U.S. Open Champion Billy Casper both fired four-under-par 68s Friday to lead the second half of the split first round in the $31,000 Southern California Open at Los Coyotes Country Club.

The field was cut to the low 90 pros and top 10 amateurs for today's second round of the 54-hole tournament, which will conclude Sunday.

Casper, the pre-tournament favorite, and Johnston now move into a tie for the first round lead with Harry Toscano, who carded a 68 on Thursday.

Casper started strong with birdies on the first two holes, but bogeyed No. 7. He narrowly missed a 30-foot eagle putt on 13 and settled for a birdie.

The veteran pro, who hit all 18 greens in regulation, finished with a flourish, dropping an 18-foot putt on the final hole for an eagle three. Casper turned in nines of 35-33.

Johnston, who plays out of West Palm Beach Country Club, was off the pro tour for two years after suffering an attack of hepatitis and originally had not planned to play in the Southern California Open. When Marty Fleckman was forced to withdraw at the last moment, he was put in the starting field.

The 34-year-old native of Scotland was perhaps the most consistent golfer of the first round, picking up three birdies on the front nine and two on the back side. His only bogey came on the sixth hole, recording nines of 34-34.

Several players carded two-under-par 70s Friday, but the 69 shot by Francisco Lopez and J. D. Sanderson on Thursday stood for second place.

Deane Beman (32-38), Dave Gumila (34-36), veteran pro George Bayer (34-36) and John Lotz (36-34) all fired 70s. Tied at 71 were six pros, plus the real surprises of the tournament, Long Beach's father and son team of Kemp Richardson and John Richardson.

Father John and son Kemp fired identical 34-37 to lead the amateur field. Also shooting one-under-par were former U.S. Open champion Jack Fleck, Bob Linn and Vern Burnett.

In with par 72 were Bill Garrett, Larry Wise, Mike Austin, Alex Sutton, Bill Blanton, John Jacobs, Augie Sylvera, Charlie Sifford, Al Feldman and Frank Wharton.

Jerry Barber was the only former champion who did not make the cut, firing a 78 Friday.

AT LEAST ONE LOMBARDI IS LOVED

Hateful Packers Never Miss—Even With Mrs.

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a Vince Lombardi story that he thinks is a secret. Actually, it's more of a social item than a sports story.

The cruel despot who is so tough that he made his Green Bay Packers pocket an extra $25,000 last year — and threatens to do it again — isn't hated by everyone. In fact, there is a measure of affection between the players, the boss and their families.

The source of this story can't be revealed for fear that Vince would have to plug a leak in his own household. Here's the way it goes:

A few days before the Packers were to leave for Los Angeles and a Dec. 9 date with the Rams, the phone rang in Lombardi's house. It was Mrs. Dick Bourguignon, wife of the Packers' vice president. Could Marie Lombardi, Vince's wife, have lunch the next day with her at the Oneida Country Club?

Mrs. Lombardi accepted and arrived at the club the next day, expecting a quiet lunch with an old friend. When she walked in the lobby, she was greeted by a delegation of about 50 women, the wives of the Packers players and coaches.

It was a surprise party for Marie Lombardi, a gesture that deeply touched the transplanted New Yorker.

Olive Jordan, wife of the defensive tackle, made a short speech and presented the guest of honor with a charm bracelet from the Packer players bearing the inscription, "With the love and affection of the Packer wives 1967."

Ann Skorsinski, wife of the veteran offensive tackle, said, "We have a gift from an old friend who has no wife here to represent him."

Mrs. Lombardi was handed a box of candy with a message card that read: "Sweetest to the sweet, Max McGee."

On the bus to Milwaukee a week ago, Skorsinski gave Mrs. Lombardi a Super Bowl ring from last year's game with Kansas City.

The week before the title game with Dallas, a large registered package arrived at the Lombardi household, addressed to Mrs. Lombardi. It contained a robe, slippers and perfume. The card inside said: "Wear this to the Super Bowl... Packer Wives."

Not bad for the wife of the fellow who is supposed to treat all his players the same — like dogs.

At 44, Groza Still Gets Kicks—Rams May Foot Bill

By AL LARSON Staff Writer
MIAMI BEACH — Old placekickers never die.

They just go right on kicking. Three weeks from now, after the Cleveland Browns go home from Sunday's Playoff Bowl, Lou Groza will celebrate his 44th birthday in Berea, O., where he operates a dry-cleaning outfit and an insurance company.

On that day, Groza will become twice as old as Don Cockroft, the man (or boy) who is trying to take his job.

Cockroft came to the Browns from Adams State last summer as Cleveland's third draft choice. He looked good in rookie camp. Then Groza arrived. Lou kicked 10 successive field goals from the 40-yard line and Cockroft spent the season on Cleveland's taxi squad.

Groza is the last of the old-time Browns, the amazing team which Paul Brown designed to dominate the All-America Conference and continued in the NFL.

Paul Brown is gone. So are Marion Motley, Dante Lavelli, Otto Graham and Mac Speedie. But Lou keeps rolling along like the Ohio River, on whose banks he was born Jan. 25, 1924, at Martin's Ferry.

He's kicked 164 field goals during his 21-year career with the Browns. The one that stands out was a relatively simple 16-yarder against the Rams in 1950.

That was the year the Browns moved from the AAC into the supposedly much stronger NFL. They squeezed past the New York Giants, 8-3, in an Eastern Division playoff and met the Rams for the championship on a frozen field.

The Rams were leading 29-27 but Graham moved the Browns downfield and with only 28 seconds remaining Groza booted the three-pointer which gave Cleveland a 30-28 verdict and the NFL title in their first year.

When is Groza going to retire? "People have been asking me that since I was 22 years old," he said Friday. "I'd like to play as long as I enjoy it. And I enjoy it."

Lou can't kick as long as he once did—his kickoffs seldom go inside the five-yard line now, and he missed 12 of 23 field goals this year in league play. In the last four seasons, however, he has tried 190 extra points and made 188.

Groza should have been insulted when the Browns drafted Cockroft because it was apparent that the rookie was being brought in as a hired gun.

"Lou embarrassed them," a friend of his said. "He made it look like they wasted a draft choice."

Lou has chased off a handful of hired guns—nobody knows just how many. The names Sam Baker, Fred Cox and Dick Van Raaphorst are tossed in as would-be Brown place kickers who had to find employment elsewhere.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Mel Walker, leaning on crutches but smiling broadly, returned to Madison, Wis. Friday and was greeted by University of Wisconsin football teammates.

Walker, a 185-pound defensive back, lost his left leg below the knee after an injury in the final game of the 1967 season at Minnesota. He said, "It feels great to be back. You can't imagine what it's like lying on your back for 46 days."

Mel hopes to return to Wisconsin and classes when the second semester gets under way in February.

FLORIDA STATE University coach Bill Peterson is apparently having a hard time deciding whether to jump into the National Football League.

Peterson returned from Dallas following an all-day conference with Lou Spadia, president of the San Francisco 49ers. Spadia reportedly offered Peterson a five-year coaching contract for at least $50,000 annually.

Peterson said he has made "no decision."

WILLIE MAYS tied up traffic Friday or rather his new fire-engine red $12,000 Italia-made automobile did. His new car gathered such a crowd when parked in front of a mid-town New York hotel that traffic had to be directed around the area.

JOE MINTZER, making his pro bowling debut, took the lead after 32 games in the $40,000 Phoenix Open.

The 27-year-old Fountain Valley rookie knocked down 1,731 pins while winning seven of his eight games. Don Carter, who led the field after 24 games, slipped to fourth place.

LONG BEACH'S Billie Jean King beat fellow Californian Kathy Harter of Seal Beach to qualify for the women's singles finals against Australia's Margaret Smith Court in the West Australia Tennis Championships.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN of the Philadelphia 76ers was the only unanimous choice for the East squad in the 18th National Basketball Assn. All-Star game at Madison Square Garden Jan. 23. Other members of the squad were Bill Russell, John Havlicek, Sam Jones, Oscar Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Dave Bing, Dave DeBusschere, Willis Reed and Hal Greer.

JOHN CLOUGH of Hanover, N.H., celebrated his professional ski racing debut by winning a dual slalom against a strong field of former European Olympic medalists at Waterville Valley, N.H.

CONFERENCES permitting freshmen to play varsity baseball will lose automatic qualification for the College World Series unless the NCAA passes a rule making the freshmen eligible, the Baseball Coaches Assn. announced.

Senior Bowl May See Rise of South

MOBILE (AP) — The deep South, in a deep slump in holiday football games, ranks as a touchdown favorite over the North in the 19th annual Senior Bowl football game today.

The passing of Kim Hammond of Florida State and Dewey Warren of Tennessee gives the Dixie All-Stars their slim edge, although the Yankees have lost only one of nine bowl and all-star games this winter.

"Our boys aren't worrying about those losses," said South coach Hank Stram of the Kansas City Chiefs. "They are going out there to win."

The "North," coached by Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots, will be trying for its second straight victory in the play-for-pay debut of America's top college football seniors.

The Yankees, who still trail in the series 11-6-1, rolled to a 35-13 triumph a year ago.

Members of the winning team will collect $1,000 each, with the losers receiving $750.

The North is counting on the passing of Wyoming's Paul Toscano and Toledo's John Schneider.

Say Amateur Tennis Doomed

NEW YORK (AP) — Amateur tennis is doomed if authorities are successful in opening the doors to open competition, a former secretary of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. warned today. It is evident that if open tennis is voted, many of the top amateurs of the world will turn pro," Percy C. Rogers of Northampton, N.H., said in a formal statement given to the Associated Press.

"After the professional prize money and amateur player-expense charges had been paid at an open tournament, very little of the gate receipts would be left for another tennis development."

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. will debate the question and make a decision at its meeting Feb. 3.

Meanwhile, many of America's top amateurs have announced they will risk suspension and play at Wimbledon. A large number of top amateurs, including John Newcombe and Tony Roche of Australia's successful Davis Cup team, have joined pro ranks.

Rogers, in his statement, urged the 2,500 member clubs of the USLTA to vote a resounding "no" to open tennis to prevent, he said, "the destruction of amateur tennis throughout the world."

7 Challenge Roy Betz's Santa Anita 'Cap' Damascus at Anita Today

Damascus, horse of the year as a 3-year-old in 1967, launches a bid for repeat honors today in the $40,000-added Malibu Stakes at Santa Anita.

The gleaming bay Kentucky-bred son of Sword Dancer topped a field of eight entered in the 7-furlong race. Jockey Bill Shoemaker, who has ridden the colt in all but two of his starts, will be aboard.

Also named were Jungle Road, Suteki, Lucky Bush, Ahead Tiger, Rukens, Rising Market and Serve Notice. The Malibu is restricted to 4-year-olds.

Damascus, never out of the money, has won 15 races, placed second four times and third once, earning $817,941.

As the favorite, Damascus is high-weighted at 126 pounds. He'll spot Rukens, last year's Santa Anita Derby winner, 3 pounds and from 6 to 10 for the others.

Damascus also was nominated Friday for the San Fernando Stakes for 4-year-olds on Jan. 20, as well as the $100,000-added Charles H. Strub Stakes Feb. 3.

A crowd of 49,500 — and possibly exceeding the 50,000 plateau — is anticipated today with clear skies and a fast track in prospect.

Gates will open at 10:30 a.m., with the first race at 12:30.

Damascus and four of his rivals in the Malibu were on the track Friday morning for final blow-outs.

Damascus was impressive as he toured three furlongs in a snappy 34.3-5. Rukens, the 1967 Santa Anita Derby winner, was under tight restraint as he breezed in .35 2-5 for trainer Clyde Turk.

Fernando Alvarez rides Rukens. Stretch-running Jungle Road will have Don Pierce.

Suteki, third to Kissin' George in the Palos Verdes Handicap Dec. 26, will be ridden by Walter Blum.

Rising Market, already a winner at this meeting and a success in last year's San Felipe Handicap, will have Laffi Pincay.

Neil S. McCarthy's uncommonly swift Time to Leave, the 1-2 favorite, barely held off the closing rush of Morgaise to win the featured $10,000 Alhambra Purse before 20,700 fans Friday.

Time to Leave, a daughter of Father John and Now Go trained by John Canty, was ridden by Danny Velasquez and returned $3, $2.20 and $2.40. Morgaise, victress in the Hollywood Lassie Stakes last summer, went postward the second choice and paid $2.40 and $2.60. Schatz Pie returned $4.

The victory was Time to Leave's seventh in 13 starts, including three wins consecutively. John Sellers nabbed riding honors for the afternoon with a triple.

'Lucky Pierre' But Unlucky Us

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Having touted the public onto the dramatic debut of Pierre Salinger on "Balman," I thought it only my duty to look in myself. I want to apologize to everyone.

I should explain that some intriguing puffs were sent out by the show's flacks dealing with the fact that a picture of Richard Nixon would be on Salinger's desk in the show. He played a crooked attorney, "Lucky Pierre," for Caesar Romero and Eartha Kitt, who as Catwoman may well win an Academy Award for her performance.

The Nixon picture was on the desk in the show, all right, but it was so small I wouldn't have noticed it if the publicity beforehand hadn't mentioned it would be there. Nothing came of this juxtaposition. It had possibilities. Which is more than I can say for Salinger as an actor. I'm not quite certain this is the career for him. I'm sure he'd do better in politics.

THE NBC documentary on heart transplant operations tonight had originally planned to show the actual operation on Dr. Philip Blalberg, in South Africa and the network had arranged to pay the patient $50,000, according to a N.Y. Times report.

Lucy Jarvis, the show's producer, said the show had been getting the full cooperation of Dr. Christian N. Barnard for the documentary until he returned to South Africa from his U.S. visit.

"Then we could hardly get near him," Mrs. Jarvis said. "Something happened along the line, and when he returned home we found ourselves completely shut out and were not able to do our coverage." The payment to the Blalbergs was cut to $25,000.

Mrs. Jarvis said: "The operation took place so fast. If Dr. Barnard committed himself elsewhere or if he decided it was too disturbing, we do not know. No one filmed."

Christmas Eve, is featured.

Mrs. Jarvis said Dr. Barnard had originally submitted to interviews, as did members of his team, including his brother, Marius. "After he came to New York, the competition was so great we could hardly get near him," she told the Times.

The program tonight on Ch. 4 will retell the story of the transplant operations and present "close-ups" of the doctors and patients involved.

"STAR TREK" adherents, fed by rumors that the program may be canceled next season, are mounting a campaign to keep it on the air.

A spokesman for the show said nothing is known for sure, but that ratings are not too good and "this is something we go through every season."

A group of students at Caltech have decided to parade at 8 tonight in front of the NBC studio in Burbank and have been issued a permit for the torchlight march on the studio. Radio Station KRAL (1110) has an on-the-air campaign going to keep the show on TV, pointing out that "in the true American tradition, the half-humanoid Spock has raised himself from a Venusian slum to become a true folk hero."

"Star Trek" will continue on Ch. 4 through the season — but come March some vice president will make the decision as to whether it will air next season.
